73 WOMEN CANDIDATES ELECTED TO LOK SABHA, FIVE LESS THAN IN 2019

A total of 797 women candidates had contested the Lok Sabha elections with the BJP fielding the maximum at 69 followed by the Congress at 41

THIRTY OF THEM FROM THE BJP, 14 FROM CONG

The 18th Lok Sabha will have 13.44% female MPs as compared to the 17th, which had 14.3%—the highest since 1952. Of the 73 winners, 30 are from the BJP, 14 from the Congress, 11 from the Trinamool Congress, four from the Samajwadi Party, three from the DMK, and two each from the JDU and LJP(R). As for states, West Bengal is leading with 11 female MPs

PARTIES WITH HIGH GENDER REPRESENTATION

- Women accounted for about 50% of candidates fielded by the Naam Tamilar Katchi. About 40% of the Lok Janshakti Party and the Nationalist Congress Party and 25% of TMC candidates were women
- It was the first election since the passage of the women's reservation bill to reserve 33% of seats for women. The law is yet to be in effect

Chandrababu Naidu HOPES TO STEER GOVT		Nitish Kumar PUSH FOR PORTFOLIOS
Seated next to Modi, Naidu sees himself in the No. 2 position in the NDA from where he could steer the wheel at the national level	❶	Nitish is said to be keen on his party getting rural development, defence, railways and agri portfolios
He wants the Speaker's post for his party, a position held by TDP's Balayogi during Vajpayee's era. The post is crucial during instability	❷	Both Nitish and Naidu are pushing for special category status for their respective states to get more funds
He may insist on five portfolios — rural and urban development, shipping and ports, road transport and highways, Jal Shakti ministry	❸	Nitish wants the post of vice-chairman of Rajya Sabha. JD(U)'s Harivansh Narayan Singh holds that post

Caretaker Prime Minister Narendra Modi with TDP chief N Chandrababu Naidu, JD(U) head Nitish Kumar and Shiv Sena's Eknath Shinde during the NDA meet in New Delhi on Wednesday

1st up, Modi elected NDA chief

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @New Delhi

PUTTING all speculations to rest, the ruling National Democratic Alliance on Wednesday unanimously elected Narendra Modi as its leader, formally paving the way for his third term as prime minister. Twenty-one leaders of the NDA, including TDP's N Chandrababu Naidu, JD (U)'s Nitish Kumar, Shiv Sena's Eknath Shinde, JD(S)'s H D Kumaraswamy and NCP's Praful Patel, met at the prime minister's residence and submitted their letters of support.

A resolution adopted at the meeting said, "We are all proud that NDA fought the elections unitedly... All of us unanimously elect Narendra Modi as our leader." Modi later posted on X, "Ours is an alliance that will further national progress and fulfil regional aspirations. We will serve the 140 crore people of India and work towards building a Viksit Bharat."

Sources said the focus of the NDA meeting was to prioritise the stability and efficacy of the new government through collective participation and performance. The new government is expected to be sworn in on June 8 or 9.

No official date for the ceremony has been announced yet, apparently to evolve consensus on allocating portfolios. But BJP sources said it would most probably be held on June 8 with 20-25 ministers taking their oaths of office. The NDA is likely to stake its claim for government formation on Friday.

Since the TDP, JD (U), Shinde Sena and Chirag's LJP won 16, 12, 7 and 5 seats, respectively, they expect plum portfolios. Their wishlists are already in circulation, with the TDP angling for the Speaker's post plus 5-6 ministries (see box). The JD(U) is lobbying for rural development, defence, railways and agriculture in addition to the post of vice-chairman of the Rajya Sabha. More clarity on the portfolios is expected at the NDA parliamentary party meet on June 7. Besides, there is a buzz that both the TDP and the JD(U) are pitching for special category status to their states, a long standing demand.

Earlier in the day, the last meeting of the outgoing ministry adopted a resolution advising the President to dissolve the 17th Lok Sabha. P11

TDP demands Speaker's chair, 5 Cabinet berths

S VISWANATH @ Vijayawada

DISPELLING rumours that he was considering feelers from the INDI Alliance, Telugu Desam Party chief Chandrababu Naidu on Wednesday attended the NDA meeting in Delhi. Pictures of the meet showed the Andhra leader being seated right next to Prime Minister Narendra Modi. The TDP is the second largest party in the NDA with 16 MPs.

Top party sources said Naidu has taken a firm stand that he wants to play a key role in the Modi 3.0 government. He is also learnt to have given the BJP brass a list of demands. These include the Lok Sabha Speaker's post and at least five portfolios for the regional party.

The TDP is keen on the Speaker's position because it comes with immense power and access, and the Chair will play a crucial role in case of a hung Parliament. Late GMC Balayogi from the party had served as Speaker in the A B Vajpayee government from 1998 to 2002.

A TDP MP said the party wants rural development, housing and urban affairs, ports & shipping, road transport & highways, and Jal Shakti ministries. It is also keen to have a junior minister in the finance ministry as the state is in dire need of funds.

Nine trekkers from Karnataka killed in Uttarkashi blizzard

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

NINE trekkers from Karnataka died on a trek route in Uttarkashi, Uttarakhand, when a group of 22 trekkers was stranded in a severe blizzard which struck around 2pm Tuesday.

Five of the deceased trekkers were identified as Sindhu Wakelam (44), Asha Sudhakar (71), Sujata Mungurwadi (52), Vinayak Mungurwadi (55) and Chitra Praneeth (48), the Disaster Management department (DMD) said.

The group, comprising 18 trekkers from Karnataka and one from Maharashtra, besides three local guides, had embarked on a high-altitude trek to Sahastra Tal Mayali in Uttarkashi. The age group of the trekkers ranges from 34 to 71.

Weather conditions suddenly deteriorated on Tuesday afternoon. Soon after news broke of the trekkers being stranded en route, the Uttarkashi district administration informed the Indian Mountaineering Federation and Karnataka DMD late Tuesday evening.

Three Indian Air Force helicopters were pressed into service for rescue operations from 9am on Wednesday.

The Karnataka government appointed IAS officer Vipul Bansal, at present on election duty in Nagpur, as the nodal officer. Karnataka Revenue Minister Krishna Byregowda flew to Dehradun to keep a close watch on the rescue operations and bring back the rescued trekkers. CONTINUED ON: P12

Parole for progeny: Plea of life convict's wife gets nod

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

IN an exceptional ruling, the High Court of Karnataka, which helped a woman by granting 15 days' parole to her lover serving a life sentence for murder in Bengaluru Central Prison to marry her a year ago, has now gone a step ahead acceding to her request to grant parole to him to beget a child.

Taking a compassionate view, the court granted 30 days' parole to him, considering the request of his 31-year-old wife from Kolar district that she is deprived of progeny and her mother-in-law wishes to spend time with grandchildren.

The court, however, said the petitioner is at liberty to seek an extension of general parole from 30 to 90 days as sought by her, which should be considered looking at the conduct of the convict while he is out on parole. Justice SR Krishna Kumar passed the order while partly allowing the petition filed by the woman.

Noting that parole will be effective from June 5, the court said the petitioner's husband should mark his attendance at the jurisdictional police station once a week without fail. It will be the responsibility of the jurisdictional police to bring him back to jail if he doesn't return. CONTINUED ON: P7

LS DEFEAT IN CITY MAY HIT PROSPECTS OF CONG BBMP POLL HOPEFULS

BJP leaders want ministers to step down, taking moral responsibility for the loss

MOHAMMED YACOOB
@ Bengaluru

WITH the defeat of Congress in all the Lok Sabha constituencies of Bengaluru, workers and leaders from the party have demanded that some former corporators and leaders who had taken the responsibility for campaigning should be asked to step down, making way for loyal and honest workers.

Rajeev Gowda, the defeated candidate from Bangalore North, said it was a failure of collective leadership and also, the BJP-JDS coalition helped in the consolidation of anti-Congress votes. Mansoor Ali Khan, who gave jitters to PC Mohan in Bangalore Central, claimed that poor election management at the Mahadevapura Assembly segment led to his defeat.

With these results, sources said, Bengaluru North Congress president Abdul Wajid and Bengaluru Central president Uday Kumar may find it difficult to get tickets to contest the upcoming BBMP elections as they failed to connect with party workers across the constituency. "Both leaders are not well connected with workers in other segments and have not grown beyond their respective wards. Giving them responsibility proved costly to the party," Congress workers said.

BJP leaders, meanwhile, demanded the resignation of ministers concerned to step down taking moral responsibility for the defeat. "The BJP candidates in North and South constituencies won with a margin of over 2.5 lakh votes. This indicated that ministers and former corporators who worked for Congress failed to make any impact. They are responsible for the defeat of their candidates and should take moral responsibility. In Krishna Byregowda's Assembly constituency Byatarayanapura, which falls under the North segment, BJP got 41,000 lead. Similarly, in the Yeshwanthpur Assembly segment, BJP rebel MLA ST Somashekar, who cross-voted during the MLC polls, failed to prevent a BJP surge as the saffron party got a lead with 1.20 lakh votes," said Harish, president of BJP Bengaluru North.

> Dinesh Gundu Rao should take responsibility for the Congress candidate's defeat. Ministers, former corporators and parliamentary segment presidents should step down
>
> Harish, president of BJP Bengaluru North

He said BJP gained in Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao's Gandhinagar Assembly segment, part of Bengaluru Central, with a lead of 23,000 votes. "Dinesh should take responsibility for the Congress candidate's defeat. Ministers, former corporators and parliamentary segment presidents should step down," Harish added.

Uday Kumar, Bengaluru Central Lok Sabha constituency Congress president and former corporator of Hagadur ward, blamed the non-cooperation of the defeated MLA candidate in Mahadevapura. He also alleged that many officials who are in the Mahadevapura Assembly constituency for the last 15 years worked in favour of BJP.

Sources said that many aspirants for BBMP elections who did not work will be denied tickets as the party had already said that those who do not help the party secure a good lead in the LS elections will not be considered.

BBMP TO PLANT 2 LAKH TREE SAPLINGS

Special Commissioner for Lakes, Forest and Estate (BBMP) Preethi Gehlot on Wednesday said there is a plan to plant two lakh tree saplings across Bengaluru.Addressing an interaction by 'Climate Action Cell' on World Environment Day at IPP Training Centre in Malleswaram, she said short, mid and long-term solutions should be formulated ward-wise for the implementation of a climate action plan in the city. "Public places should be kept clean, if the climate plan is to be implemented properly in the city," Preethi reiterated.

THEME OF THE YEAR

The World Environment Day theme for the year 2024 is 'Land restoration, stopping desertification and building drought resilience'. The day is observed on June 5 every year to create awareness and encourage action for environment protection. It was first started in 1973 and is observed in 143 countries. Every year, different themes are chosen by a team in the UN for businesses, NGOs, communities, politicians and the influential to advocate.

Climate-resilient buildings need of the hour, rules being drawn up

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

CLIMATE change is real and directly impacts people in the form of flooding, drought and landslides. While these cannot be completely eradicated and stopped in one go, climate change can be controlled, and officials from the disaster management and environment departments are working together to draw up new construction rules. The rules will apply to all new structures and under construction buildings, besides infrastructure projects, to make them climate-resilient.

A senior official from the environment department told The New Indian Express: "Learning from bitter past experiences of flooding and casualties, the disaster management department is preparing a blueprint of flood-prone areas. We are asking builders, contractors and agencies seeking clearance for projects to draw up details of how construction and demolition waste is disposed of and managed. A detailed water management plan, explaining the source of water, is being sought. They will also have to ensure there are deep recharge pits for groundwater recharge. We are insisting that buildings are climate-resilient."

Earlier, while clearing projects, the State Environment Impact Assessment Authority (SEIAA) would not seek many details on air and water management, but now they are asking builders and agencies questions on environment management. "So far, no project has been rejected as builders and companies have been seeking time to redo their proposal," said an official from SEIAA. These directions are not limited to Bengaluru or to new high-rises, but apply to all ongoing commercial, residential and infrastructure projects across the state.

An official from the disaster management department said they are working with district administrations and city corporations to prepare a plan for multiple models.

Need to amend Tree Protection Act: Khandre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

ACKNOWLEDGING the increase in the number of illegal tree-felling and poisoning cases being reported, Forest, Environment and Ecology Minister Eshwar Khandre on Wednesday said there is a need to amend the Tree Protection Act, 1976, to conserve the green cover.

Speaking on the sidelines of a sapling plantation event on World Environment Day, Khandre said the penalty against felling of trees should be made more stringent and vigilant. He added that the government is also considering stopping permission for the felling of trees for new projects. Also, a study on the environmental impact due to multiple infrastructure projects will be undertaken.

In the meantime, sapling plantation drives were undertaken across the state. Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot, along with former president Ramnath Kovind and his family, planted a Cassia fistula sapling on the Raj Bhavan grounds. The governor appealed to people to plant saplings and nurture nature to protect the environment.

Despite ban, plastic still in use in B'luru: Experts

AKNISREE KARTHIK
@ Bengaluru

WHILE World Environment Day is observed on June 5, the ban on plastic imposed by the BBMP has failed. Right from the big markets, grocery stores, hotels, restaurants, and convention halls, to street vendors, single-use plastic is in use everywhere. Solid waste management experts slammed the BBMP and said the plastic ban is not enforced at all.

V Ramprasad, advisor to the BBMP on Swachh Survekshan, said, "Nobody has taken the plastic ban seriously. First, BBMP, which is itself not worried in enforcing the ban. Companies under the Extended Producers Responsibility should be held responsible for the waste generated by their products and they have to take measures to ensure end-of-life handling. But they are not held accountable."

SAY NO TO PLASTIC

"Further, people too have to realise that using plastic is harmful to them and the environment and switch to eco-friendly alternatives. But we see people still demand plastic bags while shopping," Ramprasad said.

Swachha Eco Solutions co-founder Rajesh said the ban on plastic in Bengaluru is back to square one. "In 2016, BBMP banned plastic and also notified the penalties to be levied on manufacturers, traders storing and selling it, and commercial and domestic users. To enforce the ban, the Palike employed marshals too. However, during the pandemic, to curb the spread of the virus, they permitted the use of single-use plastics."

In 2022, the Central Pollution Control Board directed state governments to ban a range of single-use plastics. The onus is on the BBMP to implement it and upload the measures taken, including the seizure of banned plastics, on the CPCB dashboard. However in the absence of any strict action, the banned plastics are available everywhere and even people are using it as if there is no ban on them, lamented Rajesh.

CONTINUOUS LEARNING HELPED US, SAY NEET TOPPERS

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE National Testing Agency (NTA) announcing NEET-2024 results late on Tuesday caught students and parents by surprise. Ideally, the results were to be out by the second week of June. A total of 67 candidates secured the All India Rank 1, out of whom, three are from Karnataka - Kalyan V, Sam Shreyas Joseph and Arjun Kishore - who secured 99.999 percentile. About 1.5 lakh students from the state had appeared for the exam out of whom, 89,088 became eligible for NEET 2024. Last year, Karnataka's performance was on similar lines, with 75,248 students qualifying out of the over 1.3 lakh who appeared. In the Top-100 ranks released by NTA, Karnataka students secured six seats, with five boys and one girl making a mark.

Kalyan from Bengaluru had also topped the Karnataka Common Entrance Test (CET) in B Pharm, Pharm D, veterinary science and nursing streams, whose results were announced last Saturday by Karnataka Examination Authority (KEA). Speaking to TNIE, he said, "I certainly did not expect Rank 1, but I was confident of my performance. I had just confusion in two questions for Physics, but I think it all worked out in the end. I made sure I had a schedule and followed the syllabus." Kalyan added that he is keen on becoming a researcher and would like to join AIIMS, Delhi.

The other AIR 1 from Expert PU College in Mangaluru, Arjun said he is elated with the rank and would like to pursue surgery after qualifying for NEETPG. Son of Kishore, an associate professor in the department of pharmacology at Mysore Medical College and mother, Rashmi, a gynaecologist, could not contain their excitement. "I worked hard and studied for six hours a day, apart from classes. When I got the rank, we got calls from many relatives and even some unknown people, it was a different feeling. I wish to follow the same path (medicine) as my parents," he said.

The cut-off this year for the general category candidates has increased from 720-137 last year to 720-164. In terms of state-wise performance, Uttar Pradesh reported the highest number of qualified candidates, with 1,65,047 students, followed by Maharashtra, Rajasthan and Tamil Nadu, with 1,42,665, 1,21,240 and 89,426, respectively. Karnataka secured the fifth rank. All over India, 13,16,268 students qualified for UGNEET 2024. The test was held on May 5 across the country.

12 BMTC staffers feted for their honesty

Bengaluru: As a reward for their courteous behaviour towards commuters, and their honesty in returning lost mobile phones, laptops, cash and other valuables, the BMTC felicitated 12 of its crew members on Wednesday. Appreciating the performance of the staff in the period between January and March, as per the order of the BMTC Managing Director and the Chief Traffic Manager (Operations), felicitated 12 crew members with appreciation letters on Wednesday.

UDD official checks monsoon preparedness

Bengaluru: Urban Development Department Deputy Chief Secretary Umashankar on Wednesday inspected the control room of the BBMP head office, to check for rain preparedness. In view of the rainfall the city has been experiencing, Umashankar visited the control room and reviewed its functioning. Hew told officials to monitor the control room properly and respond to citizen complaints. BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said complaints will be received on the helpline number 1533.

PETER VIDAL

06TH June: We're now coming right under interesting lunar alignments, and I'd like to talk about tradition again. Some traditions claim that this is a perfect moment for doing nothing. Actually, I don't know about you, but I like to keep busy. If I sit around for five minutes, I get itchy feet.

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
If you make a point of listening to what other people are genuinely saying, you'll do yourself an enormous favour. At all costs, don't imagine that those who disagree with you are out to do you down. They might just believe that they are entitled to their own point of view!

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
The combined role of magnetic Mars and disciplined Saturn has raised the profile at work, making it difficult for you to achieve your goals. The best results will be achieved by extra effort, rather than by waiting for others to do the job for you.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
Venus' close relationship to your sign indicates that, more than anything else, you must finally come to terms with your own emotional needs. Social plans may have to be re-thought, perhaps because your attitudes are changing, perhaps because someone you once admired no longer seems to fit the bill.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
You must continue to take your bearings personally and professionally, with an emphasis on all activities involving other people and your own desire for prestige. You may look to the past for your inspiration, trawling through your experiences for fond memories.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
Life goes on in spite of the fact that you may have got the cold shoulder from people who were once warm and friendly. Try to understand the way they are feeling, and realise that they may need your sym-pathy. It's all a question of finding the right approach.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Now is the moment to do some mental stock-taking, mainly concerning money. What you should be looking at are those financial arrange-ments which connect you to other people, and reconsider any recent commitments. You might decide that it's time to back out!

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Once you've tested the water, you might try laying down the law. You must insist that others meet you on equal terms, resolving emotional problems through a spirit of compromise. Be prepared for other people to change their minds, perhaps going back to a former position.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
A clash with someone with whom you have previously been hand-in-glove could be settled very soon. One way or another, you should realise that colleagues at work must be allowed to go their own way. After all, they have a perfect right to their point of view.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Potent planetary influences are forcing you to re-consider your position. It may be that by changing your mind now you will redis-cover an earlier commit-ment, with favourable consequences all round. It's good to forgive, but not to forget - at least, if you don't want to repeat the same mistakes.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Now you must be prepared for some kind of confrontation at home. Indeed, you should welcome a frank exchange of views which, if it takes place now, will save a great deal of trouble, perhaps in about eight weeks' time. There is still much to play for.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
What appears to be upsetting now is the behaviour or attitudes of people who are lacking in feeling. Or is it just that they seem to be out of touch with their emotions, perhaps because of the practical strain they are under? If so, then be kind and considerate.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You must realise that when it comes to money, these are still early days. Time really does seem to be on your side, and you may be able to sit on the fence for as long as you think fit. Mind you, when the time comes to act, you must be as decisive as possible.

Prajwal undergoes potency test, police custody to end today

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru:

FORMER Hassan Member of Parliament Prajwal Revanna, who was arrested by the Special Investigation Team (SIT) for his alleged involvement in a sex scandal, underwent a potency test at Bowring and Lady Curzon Hospital in Bengaluru on Wednesday.

The SIT had sought the court's permission to subject him to the potency test. Permission from court is a must for such tests, and is generally granted based on applications submitted by law enforcement agencies or prosecutors. The court determines the necessity of the tests for gathering evidence and ensuring due process of the case, before granting permission.

The potency test conducted on Prajwal involved physical examination and other tests to gather evidence related to the alleged sexual abuse.

Forensic potency tests in sexual abuse cases typically involve the collection and analysis of biological samples from the suspect, such as semen or DNA.

These tests are crucial for determining the presence of bodily fluids, identifying genetic material and establishing links between individuals involved in the case. The test results can play a significant role in legal proceedings, help in investigation, prosecution and resolution of sexual abuse cases. The test reports, to be submitted to court in a sealed cover, are crucial for Sit officers in further investigation.

Prajwal's police custody ends on Thursday. He will be produced before court, and in all likelihood, the SIT may again seek his custody. Though he was in police custody for six days, SIT officers were unable to get any information from him as he was tight-lipped and denied any involvement in the sex scandal.

The SIT reportedly collected 12 different samples of Prajwal's voice, and sent them to the forensic laboratory for analysis. Since Prajwal is not allegedly cooperating in the investigation, officers are banking on voice analysis to ascertain if the voice heard in the explicit videos are his.

Meanwhile, the search for his mother Bhavani Revanna, wanted in a kidnap case registered by KR Nagar police station in Mysuru, continues.

Prajwal was sent to police custody on May 31 by the 42nd Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate. Police custody was granted over the first FIR registered against him by Holenarasipur Town police on April 28.

Prajwal was arrested by the SIT at Kempegowda International Airport around 1am last Friday after he landed from Munich in Germany.

Prajwal, who had contested the recent Lok Sabha elections from Hassan as NDA candidate, lost to Shreyas Patel of Congress.

Security paramount, send request for release of passport: HC to nurse

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

DECLINING to interfere with the seizure of the passport of a nurse from Dakshina Kannada, on the ground that the security of the nation is paramount, the Karnataka High Court directed her to submit a representation to the Regional Passport Officer in Bengaluru for the release of the passport.

The passport of Shany Jose (48) was seized by immigration authorities in August 2023 for travelling to Yemen, in violation of the notification issued by the Government of India in 2017, prohibiting Indian citizens from travelling to Yemen due to national security.

Disposing of Jose's petition, Justice M Nagaprasanna said: "If any notification or law is brought into force for the purpose of security of the nation, courts exercising jurisdiction under Article 226 would be loathe to even consider such cases, as the security of the nation is paramount."

Jose joined a hospital in Yemen in 2011 and worked until July 2022. She used to visit India intermittently. Meanwhile, she travelled back to India as her father had fallen ill. When she arrived at Delhi airport on August 18, 2023, to visit her father, immigration authorities seized her passport on the ground that her travel itself violated the notification issued after the relationship between India and Yemen had strained.

Meanwhile, she had given an undertaking before the authorities that she would never travel back to Yemen because of the prohibition, which came to her knowledge after the seizure.

The Centre has informed court that around 422 passports have been seized by Indian authorities for travelling to Yemen. To mitigate the sufferings of people who had travelled to Yemen due to job compulsions or ignorance, the government has issued guidelines to all passport-issuing authorities (PIA) to release the passports on a case-to-case basis.

CRIME PATROL

Telugu actress Hema sent to two-day police custody

Bengaluru: A city court on Wednesday remanded Telugu actress Hema to two days in police custody in connection with the rave party case and alleged drug use. The CCB had arrested Hema on June 3. The court had remanded her to 14-day judicial custody following which she was sent to Bengaluru Central Prison at Parappana Agrahara. Hema, who was brought to the court in Anekal, alleged the police made her sign on a paper after taking her to a forest area. After getting down from the police vehicle and while walking inside the court, she asked mediapersons whether she had committed any murder and alleged that the police took her to the forest at midnight. Hema's advocate said medical test should be done in a government hospital while her test was done in private hospital.

Man stabs 25-year-old techie son in domestic row

Bengaluru: A 25-year-old software engineer was stabbed to death by his father during a fight over a domestic issue. The incident happened at their residence in Jaraganahalli under Puttenahalli police station limits on Wednesday. The deceased is Yeshwanth Kumar. His father, Basavaraju (52), a lorry driver, has been arrested. The police said around 9 am, Basavaraju and his wife had a quarrel over taking care of his bedridden mother. The duo used to frequently quarrel over the issue. Kumar, who was heading to office, questioned his father. Enraged, Basavaraju slapped his wife which led to a heated argument between the father and son. In the melee, Basavaraju stabbed his son in the chest with a kitchen knife. "Kumar was rushed to a nearby hospital by his father and a neighbour but doctors declared him brought dead. We have registered a case," the police said.

38-year-old man, live-in partner found dead

Bengaluru: A 38-year-old man and a woman were found dead under mysterious circumstances at their rented house in Bannerghatta police station limits, on the outskirts of the city. The incident came to light on Wednesday after the landlord, Vishwanath, sensed a foul smell emanating from the house, and reported the matter to the police. The deceased are identified as Prabhu and Lakkamma (30). They stayed in Janata Colony, and were reportedly in a live-in relationship. The victims are suspected to have consumed poison, a few days ago. Prabhu was a driver, while Lakkamma worked at a garment factory. The police suspect personal issues leading the two towards taking the extreme step. The police are awaiting the postmortem report to ascertain if there was any foul play behind the deaths. A case of unnatural death has been registered.

POLL DEBACLE

CONGRESS BRASS MAY SOON SACK SOME MINISTERS

Action likely against those who 'betrayed' party and helped rivals emerge victorious

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

THOUGH Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and his cabinet colleagues have rubbished speculations that the ministers, who failed to ensure the victory of Congress candidates in the Lok Sabha elections will be sacked, the party high command initiating such a punitive action sooner or later cannot be ruled out, according to sources.

The high command, which is now busy with its I.N.D.I.A. partners in New Delhi after the LS poll outcome, is likely to take action against the ministers who "betrayed" the party and helped its rival candidates emerge victorious in some constituencies in the state.

With the candidates likely to submit reports on the reasons for their defeat soon, AICC general secretary in-charge of Karnataka Randeep Singh Surjewala is expected to arrive in Bengaluru within a week.

The reasons for the defeat of party candidates, especially of Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar's brother and sitting MP DK Suresh in Bengaluru Rural constituency, which came as a shock to the high command, will be discussed.

On Wednesday, Shivakumar held a meeting with party leaders from Mandya and Kolar districts. He along with Siddaramaiah may hold a meeting soon.

The blame-game over the party's dismal performance has begun with some leaders attributing the loss to the BJP-JDS alliance. "A report on the rift in Kolar and Chikkaballapur reached AICC leader Rahul Gandhi much before the declaration of results and the high command is serious about it," a party insider said.

Food and Civil Supplies Minister KH Muniyappa, who met Shivakumar, however clarified that he worked promptly for the party candidates in Kolar and Chikkaballapur constituencies. He blamed his rival camp led by Ramesh Kumar, Higher Education Minister MC Sudhakar and Kolar MLA Kotturu Manjunath, among others, for the defeat of the party candidates in the two constituencies.

"Those who had opposed my family member's (his son-in-law Chikkapeddanna) candidature are answerable for the defeat of the party candidate (Gowtham)," he is said to have told Shivakumar.

Meanwhile, Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara met defeated Tumakuru candidate SP Muddahanume Gowda and consoled him. Dr Parameshwara, however, said that he and Cooperation Minister KN Rajanna will have to shoulder the responsibility for his defeat.

"In the 2019 LS polls, the Congress-JDS alliance did not work (former PM HD Deve Gowda lost Tumakuru seat). But this time, the BJP-JDS alliance candidate won. I will give my explanation to the party bosses," he added.

If not the cabinet reshuffle, some ministers facing corruption charges may be dropped anytime as BJP is likely to raise the issue during the monsoon session, sources said.

It may start with Tribal Welfare Minister B Nagendra over the alleged misappropriation of Rs 187.33 crore in Maharshi Valmiki Scheduled Tribes Development Corporation (MVSTDC), they said.

MINISTER NAGENDRA LIKELY TO RESIGN TODAY

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

MINISTER of Youth and Tribal Welfare B Nagendra is likely to resign on Thursday. When he does, he will be the first minister to resign from the 12-month-old Congress government on corruption charges. He was seen at the CM's residence on Wednesday. Sources confirmed that he will resign on Thursday, which incidentally is June 6 -- the deadline set by opposition BJP for Nagendra to resign.

Nagendra, a four-time MLA, was allegedly involved in the illegal transfer of Rs 187.3 crore from the Karnataka Maharshi Valmiki Scheduled Tribe Development Corporation to corporates. Corporation Superintendent Chandrashekharan committed suicide 12 days ago, and had mentioned in his death note that "a minister" had orally ordered the money transfer.

The money was allegedly illegally transferred to accounts in Union Bank of India, which filed a complaint with the CBI. The investigation bureau has already filed an FIR in the case.

A state-government constituted Special Investigation Team, too, has already started an investigation into the case.

When asked if the case would be handed over to the CBI, Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara had said, "There is a provision in law that the CBI can take up a suo motu case of any fraud involving over Rs 3 crore. Since the bank had already filed a complaint, CBI has taken it up. But there are doubts whether it can investigate the Tribal Welfare department which comes under the cooperative sector."

Chandrashekharan, in his suicide note, had named corporation MD JG Padmanabha and two others, including accounts officer Parashuram Duruganavar, and Union Bank of India officer Suchismitha Rawal. He had also said the minister had issued orders orally to transfer the money.

Co-op society official held in Hyd

BENGALURU: SIT probing irregularities in the Karnataka Maharshi Valmiki Scheduled Tribes Development Corporation, arrested the chairman of a cooperative society based in Hyderabad. The accused, Sathyanarayana, was arrested on Monday and brought to the city on Tuesday, before being produced before a court. On Monday, SIT officials raided the Corporation's office in Vasanth Nagar in Bengaluru, and seized digital and paper documents related to the scam. Police have frozen 14 bank accounts into which money was transferred, and sent a team to Hyderabad as part of the probe. Home Minister G Parameshwara told reporters on Wednesday that an FIR had been registered by the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) in connection with the multi-crore scam. The bank had written to the CBI, which took up the case. There is a law that a voluntary case (suo motu) can be registered if the scam involves more than Rs 3 crore, he said, adding that the state government will provide complete cooperation to the CBI.

K'taka hopes for big share in new Cabinet

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

WITH Karnataka giving the BJP the highest number of MPs from South India, party leaders from the state are hopeful of at least three lawmakers from Karnataka making it to the next Union Cabinet.

Though the BJP top brass has the Herculean task of accommodating alliance partners in the next Cabinet, Karnataka is likely to get a better share.

Of the 240 seats that the BJP has won in the recent Lok Sabha elections, 17 were from Karnataka. With this, the number of aspirants is also higher.

In the Modi 2.0 government, Karnataka had four Union Ministers — Pralhad Joshi, Shobha Karandlaje, A Narayanswamy, and Bhagwanth Khuba. While Narayanaswamy did not contest this time, Khuba lost from Bidar. BJP leaders in Karnataka are hopeful of Joshi, a seasoned minister, entering the Cabinet this time as well.

BJP sources said that, going by the caste equation, a Lingayat leader from Karnataka is expected to be made a minister. "We have two big leaders, including former CMs Jagadish Shettar and Basavaraj Bommai... Shettar has a better chance. However, BY Raghavendra, son of party veteran BS Yediyurappa, is unlikely to get a Cabinet post as his brother is heading the Karnataka BJP," said a party insider.

Other names that are doing the rounds include PC Mohan who has been winning from Bangalore Central since 2009.

On Wednesday, state JDS president and former CM HD Kumaraswamy attended the NDA meeting in New Delhi, chaired by Narendra Modi. JDS, which contested in an alliance with the BJP, won two of the three seats it contested. Kumaraswamy, too, expressed his desire to be part of the Cabinet, said sources. The name of Dr CN Manjunath, brother-in-law of Kumaraswamy, is also doing the rounds. Dr Manjunath, a renowned cardiologist, defeated incumbent MP DK Suresh from Bangalore Rural.

During a campaign in the run-up to the polls, former PM HD Deve Gowda had said that his son-in-law, Dr Manjunath, had treated lakhs of people and helped the poor, and hence, national leaders want him in the Union Cabinet.

BJP sources, however, are skeptical as the party has to accommodate all their alliance party lawmakers in the Cabinet. Also, there are a few Rajya Sabha members who will have to be made ministers.

HDK eyes agriculture portfolio

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

WITH all eyes on the next Cabinet of the new National Democratic Alliance (NDA) government at the Centre, Karnataka JDS chief HD Kumaraswamy has hinted that his party was interested in the agriculture portfolio.

Kumaraswamy took part in the meeting of the NDA leaders in New Delhi on Wednesday evening.

While Narendra Modi will be sworn in as the PM for the third time on June 8, it is to be seen whether Kumaraswamy will also take oath as a Cabinet minister.

"In the meeting we resolved to remain united. The issue of Cabinet was not discussed. I have no demand as such... it is all rumours," Kumarswamy told reporters.

Before leaving for Delhi, Kumaraswamy told reporters that the NDA will form the government at the Centre and the agriculture portfolio is ideal for the JDS, which wants to address agrarian issues. "The BJP high command will take a call in this regard, considering the situation in Karnataka," he added.

Kumaraswamy said more than placing demands seeking certain portfolios, the JDS as a regional party wants to get the issues, especially interstate river water sharing disputes, resolved in Karnataka's interest.

But the JDS leadership, especially core committee chief GT Devegowda, has said that the regional party that helped the BJP win 12 LS seats in the Old Mysuru region deserves better treatment.

Meanwhile, Kumaraswamy's brother-in-law, Dr C N Manjunath, speaking to reporters in Bengaluru, clarified that he has no aspiration to enter the Modi Cabinet. Dr Manjunath, a renowned cardiologist, won from Bangalore Rural, defeating DK Suresh of the Congress.

In the NDA meeting we resolved to remain united. The issue of Cabinet formation was not discussed. I have no demand (to become minister)...

BYPOLLS

Another Gowda family vs DKS fight in Channapatna?

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

KPCC president DK Shivakumar, who is also the deputy CM, and the Deve Gowda family prepare to lock horns once again to reign supremacy in the Vokkaliga bastion. After Shivakumar's younger brother and incumbent MP DK Suresh lost from Bangalore Rural, talks have already begun in political circles in Ramanagara district about the latter contesting the by-elections to the Channapatna Assembly constituency.

State JDS chief HD Kumaraswamy, who won from Mandya, is the sitting MLA from Channapatna. The bypoll for Channapatna will be held within six months.

It is to be seen whether Kumaraswamy will field his son Nikhil Kumaraswamy from Channapatna or sacrifice the seat to the BJP, its alliance partner. Nikhil lost the 2023 polls in Ramanagara. Former MLA and MLC CP Yogeshwar is an aspirant from the BJP. "Congress, which secured 80,000 votes in the Channapatna Assembly segment in the Lok Sabha polls, can get strengthened further. With no formidable leader in the Assembly constituency, our performance in the LS polls was still fantastic. We can garner 20,000 more votes in the bypolls, and the Congress will certainly wrest the Channapatna seat," said the Congress MLA from Magadi HC Balakrishna.

Shivakumar's Man Friday and Ramanagara MLA HA Iqbal Hussain said, "I personally feel that he does not need to be in power to serve the people. He can continue the good work even without being in power," Hussain said.

Satish hints all's not well in Cong in Chikkodi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Belagavi

IN spite of the hurdles created by some sections of Congress leaders in Chikkodi Lok Sabha seats, voters elected Priyanka Jarkiholi by a thumping margin of over 1 lakh votes, PWD Minister and father of Priyanka, Satish Jarkiholi, has said.

Speaking to the media in Gokak on Wednesday, Satish said Priyanka's victory was people's win and that some disgruntled Congress leaders tried to project her as an outsider during the campaign. Satish said his daughter got at least 7,000 fewer votes from the Athani Assembly segment owing to the anti-party activities of a section of the Congress in Chikkodi.

Kudchi MLA Mahendra Tammannavar worked for his relative Shambu Kallolikar, who was in the fray as an independent, alleged Satish, adding that he would lodge a complaint against him with the party high command. "The Congress should have won by a margin of more than 2 lakh votes, but unfortunately the lead was lesser due to the anti-party activities," Satish added.

Coastal Cong unit avoided 'stars', here's why...

VINCENT D'SOUZA @ Mangaluru

IS Congress not wedded to its ideology when it comes to coastal Karnataka? It seems so if one goes by the recent developments. Sample this, though the Congress did not leave anything to chance to wrest the Dakshina Kannada Lok Sabha seat from BJP, none of the party's star campaigners campaigned for R Padmaraj Poojary, much to everyone's surprise.

Initially, Congress maintained that Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and his deputy DK Shivakumar were scheduled to campaign here, but had to cancel their visit due to their prior commitments. Dakshina Kannada District Congress Committee president and MLC K Harish Kumar had also said that precious two days are "wasted" in preparations if star campaigners are invited.

However, the truth came out on Wednesday, a day after the results were announced. Congress candidate Padmaraj implied that it was a conscious decision not to have any star campaigners. According to him, they did not have any big leader to campaign for him as people in the region will "misinterpret" the Congress' ideology. "We also need to understand the people's mentality here," he said.

Informed sources said that a section of Congress leaders here believes that talking about secularism is counterproductive as a large chunk of the electorate is considered communally polarised.

A Muslim leader said that many in the party felt that the majority community could consider Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar as "anti-Hindu" and appeasers of minorities.

Asked if campaigning by the chief minister and deputy chief minister could have helped Padmaraj, he said unless the people's mindset changes, no big leader can make an impact here.

Some others in the party said that the reduced winning margin for BJP candidates is because of this strategy.

Well aware that it is difficult to win the constituency unless he woos a section of traditional BJP voters, Padmaraj had made a conscious attempt not to speak against Hindutva. Initially, in one of the interviews, he had said that Dakshina Kannada was not a Hindutva stronghold, but was quick to term it a slip of the tongue and said that he actually meant it is not a BJP stronghold.

Voters from home Assembly seats reject members of two political families

SUNIL PATIL @ Belagavi

TWO politically strong families from Belagavi district whose members had contested the Lok Sabha elections got a reality check this time as voters, even from the Assembly constituencies represented by their family, did not go with these candidates.

Some said it could be because these families took voters from their home constituencies for granted that cost them dear.

Women and Child Welfare Minister's son Mrinal Hebbalkar contested on a Congress ticket from Belagavi, while Public Works Minister Satish Jarkiholi's daughter Priyanka from Chikkodi. The party's decision proved right in Chikkodi, but failed miserably in Belagavi.

Mrinal Hebbalkar lost to BJP candidate and former chief minister Jagadish Shettar by 1,78,437 votes. Of the eight Assembly segments in this constituency, Belagavi Rural is represented by Laxmi Hebbalkar. She had won from this constituency by a margin of over 56,000 votes in the 2023 Assembly elections.

The family was confident that Mrinal would get a lead of at least 50,000 votes from this constituency. But to their shock, the voters rejected the family and Shettar got a big lead of 50,529 votes here.

Shashikala Jolle

Laxmi Hebbalkar

Nippani backfires for Jolle family

Another political family from the district too faced a similar situation. Sitting BJP MP Annsaheb Jolle lost to debutante Priyanka Jarkiholi in Chikkodi by 90,834 votes. Of the eight Assembly seats in the constituency, Nippani is represented by Annasaheb Jolle's wife, Shashikala. In the Assembly elections last year, she had won against NCP member Uttam Patil with a margin of over 7,000 votes. The Jolle family, however, was in for a shock as Priyanka got a big lead of 29,752 votes in the Nippani assembly segment alone. This is proof again that voters choose differently in Assembly and Lok Sabha elections.

Who will be 1st BJP CM of Odisha?

Outgoing Odisha Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik tenders his resignation to Governor Raghubar Das at Raj Bhavan in Bhubaneswar on Wednesday | PTI

BIJOY PRADHAN @ Bhubaneswar

WITH a stupendous victory sealed and the BJP all set to form its maiden full-majority government in Odisha, the focus has now shifted to the chief minister's chair. Who will become the first BJP 'Mukhyamantri' of the state is now playing top in the minds of people. While speculations over the key contenders for the seat have heightened, all eyes are on the BJP's parliamentary board meeting to be chaired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi in a day or two. The meeting among other issues will take a call on the chief minister of Odisha, sources said.

Contrary to the recent practice of the party of delaying its chief ministerial face in various states, the leadership is expected to make the decision soon for Odisha. The prime reason is the prime minister's commitment to the people of the state during election campaigning that a BJP chief minister will take oath of office on June 10.

There are several names making the rounds. Among the frontrunners is Union minister in the outgoing Modi cabinet Dharmendra Pradhan even though he has been elected to the Lok Sabha from Sambalpur. Pradhan has virtually been the face of BJP in Odisha for the last 10 years and fits the bill. A key member of the Modi cabinet in the last 10 years, Pradhan has always been assigned with important portfolios demonstrating the prime minister's confidence in his ability to deliver.

State BJP president Manmohan Samal, too, is a potential contender for the top post despite his defeat from Chandbali Assembly constituency. He had been a minister in the BJD-BJP alliance government from 2004-2009.

The other names doing the rounds are Sundargarh MP Jual Oram, Balasore MP Pratap Sarangi and Keonjhar MLA Mohan Majhi. Six-time MP and former Union Minister Oram is a prominent tribal leader of the state. He also has made his intention clear about accepting the post if offered by the party.

Among others in the race are BJP national vice-president Baijayant Panda and national spokesperson and Puri MP Sambit Patra.

In a 1st, AIADMK lost deposit in 7 Lok Sabha seats

PON VASANTH BA @ CHENNAI

THE AIADMK, since its formation in 1972, has faced 13 general elections for the Lok Sabha. Yet till 2024, its candidates have never lost their deposits. This year, the candidates of the Dravidian major, which has ruled Tamil Nadu seven times, lost their deposits in seven of the 34 constituencies the party contested on its popular 'Two Leaves' symbol.

This is unprecedented as candidates fielded by the party have so far managed to secure their deposits even in the general elections in which it performed poorly. For instance, even in 1996, when the party battled severe anti-incumbency and faced a complete rout in the Assembly elections, the vote-share of none of its candidates fell below 23% in the Lok Sabha elections held simultaneously.

The closest AIADMK had came to losing deposit in a Lok Sabha election was, strangely, in 2014 when it swept TN by winning 37 seats, losing only Kanyakumari and Dharmapuri to the BJP and the PMK respectively. In Kanniyakumari, party's D John Thankam polled 17.8%, which was just 1.1 % above the minimum of 16.66 % required to retain the deposit. Even in the over 1,500 Assembly contests the party has faced since 1977, it has lost deposit fewer than 10 times, marking the 2024 performance as significant.

ISRO gears up for TRISHNA mission

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

ON World Environment Day, the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) shared more details on the Thermal InfraRed Imaging Satellite for High-resolution Natural Resource Assessment (TRISHNA) mission, a joint endeavour with the French national space agency, National Centre for Space Studies (CNES).

The satellite will aid in a comprehensive assessment of urban heat islands and also address critical water and food security challenges, focusing on the impacts of human-induced climate change and efficient water resource management through evapotranspiration monitoring. The TRISHNA satellite will be on similar lines as the NASA-ISRO Synthetic Aperture Radar Satellite (NISAR) which will also help monitor deformations on Earth and help monitor climate change.

TRISHNA is expected to go live in 2025, but no date has been announced. The satellite will track the water stress and water use and high-resolution observation of water quality and dynamics in coastal and inland waters.

"The TRISHNA mission will also help in a comprehensive assessment of urban heat islands and provide valuable data on aerosol optical depth, atmospheric water vapour, and cloud cover," said ISRO in a statement. The mission will help urban planners who will benefit from detailed urban heat island maps and heat alerts, while water quality monitoring will aid in detecting pollution in coastal and inland water bodies. It will also help in identifying submarine groundwater discharge at the coastal fringes.

The satellite will operate in a sun-synchronous orbit at an altitude of 761 km, with a local time of 12.30 pm at the equator. This orbit will provide a spatial resolution of 57 metres for land and coastal areas and 1 km for oceanic and polar regions. The mission is designed for a five-year operational life. The mission aim to understand Earth's natural processes and support global efforts in climate change mitigation through optimised resource management.

HAL GETS NEW FACILITIES, TO MEET DEMAND FOR ISRO'S LVM-3 MISSON

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

ISRO Chairman S Somanath inspects a facility at HAL on Wednesday

INDIAN Space Research Organisation (ISRO) Chairman S Somanath on Wednesday inaugurated propellant tank production and computer numerical control (CNC) machining facilities at Hindustan Aeronautics Limited's (HAL) aerospace division.

The new facilities will boost ISRO's growing production needs, especially for the Launch Vehicle Mark-3 (LVM3), India's heaviest and most powerful rocket.

The facilities will provide a major boost to ISRO's ability to meet its growing production needs. Currently, the existing capacity allows for only two LVM3 launches per year, whereas ISRO's requirements stand at six launches annually. The facilities will address this gap with HAL manufacturing enough critical components to support the demand.

During the inauguration, Somanath said HAL has enormous capacities and this potential should be explored in the larger interest of both the organisations.

The propellant tank production facility will specialise in manufacturing of high-performance fuel and oxidizer tanks, critical components for the LVM3 launch vehicle of size 4m in diameter and up to 15m in length.

Parole granted for marriage

THE petitioner's husband was sentenced to life imprisonment for murder in 2016. After the verdict, he served five years and one month in jail. Meanwhile, he was granted 15 days' parole from April 5, 2023, to marry her. She sought parole again for her husband because he is a life convict and she lives with her mother-in-law. She is deprived of her right to progeny. Her mother-in-law suffers from various ailments and she wishes to spend time with her children. Hence, she wants her husband to be with her, she stated in her petition.

The court first granted him parole for 15 days acceding to the request of his 63-year-old mother and the woman, who was in love with him for nine years.

RESULTS SHOULD GIVE MORE VOICE IN DELHI TO OPPN-RULED STATES

KARNATAKA’S Lok Sabha results this time are a repeat of the May 2014 elections, though much has changed on the ground. BJP remained the favoured party with 17 MPs, the Congress fought back from one seat to a respectable nine, and JDS held on to some turf with two MPs. The story of the day was the loss of Bangalore Rural, held by D K Suresh, brother of KPCC president D K Shivakumar, turning it into a personal setback for the deputy chief minister. The Congress conceded its bastion of Bengaluru’s suburbs and rural pockets to the BJP, which posted its first victory in the constituency. The JDS lost its home turf Hassan to the Congress, while the BJP continued its domination of Bengaluru city, where its urban vote base remained intact.

Neither of the two national parties appeared satisfied with their showing in the state. Congress leaders were confident of double-digit figures, hoping to ride on the delivery of guarantees; but it seems they did not read the situation too well in some constituencies. The BJP, charged up with an aggressive Modi-Shah-Yogi campaign and its JDS alliance, was expecting a repeat of its 2019 show of 25 seats, but fell far short. The JDS, reduced to insignificance after the assembly polls, piggybacked on the BJP to ensure that its leaders lived to fight another day. The Prajwal Revanna sex scandal, which broke out after the first phase of polling, made a significant impact on voters in the second phase; Prajwal himself lost.

For Karnataka, ruled by an opposition government, the changed numbers will mean its voice will now be raised in parliament. The Congress had consistently accused the 25 BJP MPs of failing to bring up the state’s issues with the Centre; that will hopefully be rectified. It had also run a campaign charging the Modi government with discrimination in releasing drought relief funds and devolution of taxes. This holds true for other southern states too, which had to knock on the doors of the Supreme Court with their grievances. With the BJP having lost much of its numbers, the way business is done in parliament is bound to change. Narendra Modi’s assurance after the results that the central government “will work with all states” is an indication that the spirit of cooperation, not confrontation, is likely to prevail. That works to the advantage of all in a democracy.

KERALA LEFT MUST READ WRITING ON THE WALL

THE top election story from Kerala is the BJP breaking its jinx in the state and winning its first ever Lok Sabha seat from Thrissur. Though there is an argument that the credit for the victory goes solely to Suresh Gopi, the reality is that the verdict is the result of a collective effort by both the party and the candidate. That the BJP could increase its vote share to 16.68 percent could be an indication of the things to come; the Thrissur Lok Sabha constituency includes 11 assembly areas.

The rout of the LDF is an equally important story. That the ruling coalition won a single seat and those who trounced their candidates won with huge margins shows the depth of anti-incumbency the Pinarayi Vijayan-led government is facing. It should be an eye-opener for the LDF that even in Alathur, the seat the CPM won, the BJP candidate secured nearly 2 lakh votes. The reasons for the rout are both political and administrative. The poor financial situation of the state and delay in pension disbursal can be counted as administrative lapses, the high-handedness of its student wing, the SFI, and the corruption allegations involving the CM and his family have proven politically debilitating. Though the LDF tried to counter the anti-incumbency factor with narratives against the Citizenship (Amendment) Act and in support of the Palestinian cause, nothing worked well. These manoeuvrings only resulted in the CPM losing its traditional Hindu votes. The much-hyped Nava Kerala Sadas initiated by the CM seem to have deepened the anti-incumbency sentiments, if the results are anything to go by.

Despite the losses, the signals emanating from the Left front do not show any possibility of introspection on the part of the CPM leadership. The party is trying to find solace in the fact that Lok Sabha results in the state have always tended to favour the Congress-led UDF. The BJP’s victory has changed the political landscape of the state forever, as it has put an end to its four-decades-old bipolar politics. If the CPM and its leadership are not able to read the writing on the wall, the sole bastion of the Left in the country will be lost sooner or later.

QUICK TAKE

CLEAR & PRESENT DANGER OF DISINFO

AS Europe prepares for elections this week, experts and governments have warned of a deluge of disinformation washing across the continent. Just on Wednesday, fact-checking centres debunked false claims circulating about Russia’s impending attack on EU and a rise in youth unemployment in Spain. We have seen fake news swirling during our just-concluded elections, too. But with AI and other technologies growing in competency, the threat has become much more potent. The Election Commission of India had contracted teams to keep a watch on malicious misinformation through these elections. We hope to learn the results of the effort and the plan for battling the menace in the future.

Justice Venkatachaliah had mooted the idea of governments by those representing a majority of votes. It’s never happened in our pluralistic system. Coalition has often been the answer

REVISITING IDEA OF PERMANENT COALITION

SUGATA SRINIVASARAJU

Senior journalist and author of Strange Burdens: The Politics and Predicaments of Rahul Gandhi

SOURAV ROY

THE elections have had a sobering effect on Indian democracy. What appeared to be on steroids for a decade has been suddenly brought back to an old, healthy normal. In the columns of this newspaper, in May 2022, this columnist argued that given India’s diversity of thought, culture, languages, ethnicities and religions, the best government to have would be a coalition government. We have one now.

The argument that was made on coalitions then stemmed from a forgotten suggestion that had been made by the Justice M N Venkatachaliah commission report that looked at the functioning of the Constitution after a half-century of its implementation in 1950. The commission, set up ambitiously by the then A B Vajpayee government, made one of the most credible and respected figures of Indian judiciary as its chairperson. The report suggested it would be best if all governments in India, at all tiers, mandatorily accomplish a 50-plus vote share. With this recommendation, Justice Venkatachaliah perhaps meant that only a government with a 50-plus percent vote share would have the necessary legitimacy to govern.

Even when this commission was set up, there were people who looked at it with a great deal of suspicion. They planted doubt and spread a narrative that the true or hidden intent of this commission was to change the Constitution. Since a necessary part of any robust democracy is to doubt or suspect anything that anyone in power does, the criticisms were not out of place. But it eventually turned out that the legendary Justice Venkatachaliah became known for not tampering with the Constitution but strengthening it. He made constructive suggestions to save democracy and the idea of the 50-plus percent vote was one of them. Justice Venkatachaliah also clarified that to make this change did not require a constitutional amendment but a minor executive and legislative process. It is this seed idea that the columnist had extrapolated to argue that Indian pluralism and diversity would be safe only if we put in place an arrangement of government that is a permanent coalition.

The idea of a permanent coalition is interesting as no government since we became a republic has ever amassed a 50 percent vote share. Even at their peak popularity, Nehru or Indira Gandhi could not manage a 50 percent vote share for the Congress. Even the election held after the assassination of Indira Gandhi, which largely produced a sympathy wave for Rajiv Gandhi, could not achieve this. Since we are a first past the post system, whoever touched the halfway seat mark formed the government. The halfway mark in terms of seats did not necessarily mean a 50-plus percent vote share.

The two previous governments led by the BJP, which in the liberal rhetoric were charged with being ‘authoritarian’ or ‘dictatorial’ had a vote share of under 35 percent the first time it came to power in 2014, and well under 40 percent in 2019. Interestingly, now in 2024, the BJP can form a government only if it brings others together as its parliamentary seats are 32 short of the halfway mark. But in the process of building a coalition government ,it will add to its 36.6 percent the vote share of its allies, which will create a more representative 50 percent vote share or around it. It would be a genuine, participative coalition government with necessary checks and balances in place, rather than a ruling alliance with one dominant player extending patronage and protection to political friends.

Now this is a moment the allies of the ruling party and the opposition block led by the Congress should try to institutionalise. They should push hard to make necessary changes to the laws to ensure India never again is a single-party rule. Countries in Europe that have seen frightening phases of history have more or less institutionalised coalition arrangements so that no one person can take them to the brink of war and disaster again. Even as we speak, people in South Africa have ended the one-party rule of the African National Congress and forced the party of their freedom movement to build a coalition.

This effort to make India a permanent coalition has to perhaps be proactively thrust forward by the Congress and its political and non-political allies. The onus is on them because it is they who built the narrative that the Indian democracy was in danger. Now that they have done a formidable job of containing the BJP, they have to think of permanent solutions. Until the day before counting of votes on June 4, they had argued and created doubt in the minds of the people that the voting machines, the election commission, the judiciary, the media, and many other things were compromised. The job of the opposition cannot just be to plant fear but to also rectify it when the opportunity arises and the political atmosphere is conducive.

Rahul Gandhi relentlessly asked people not to be afraid (“Daro mat”). He constantly put himself on a very high ethical platform. If he is serious about his accusations, he should now drive the agenda to make institutional changes that may somewhat permanently secure Indian democracy. Wherever he went, he showed a copy of the Constitution and said it was under threat of being changed if the BJP and Modi got a brute majority of 400 plus. A large section of India appears to have related to his prognosis and therefore, he has to now prescribe the medicine too.

To be fair, Modi did clarify on the charges being made. He said not once but a few times that even if B R Ambedkar came and wanted to change the Constitution he drafted, he will not accept it. But doubt always has a better circulation. What Rahul Gandhi planted perhaps echoed in the minds of Dalits. They perhaps thought a brute majority will push Modi to withdraw reservations. They were within their rights to believe this because the faithfuls of the BJP’s parent, the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS), had held out this threat in a dramatic fashion in different corners of India for a long time.

One wonders retrospectively if the reason for BJP president J P Nadda’s statement on the RSS, bang in the middle of the election, was to save the BJP from the doubts and disbelief of Dalits. A closer examination of the 2024 vote will offer us clarity.

HOW VOTES EVOLVE INTO POLICIES FOR GOVERNANCE

ADITYA NIGAM

Political theorist formerly with the Centre for the Study of Developing Societies, Delhi

TERMS such as ‘electoral mandate’ or ‘verdict’ are the most misleading expressions of what we actually deal with in democracies, for they convey the idea that ‘the people’ are in some sense ‘sovereign’ and they periodically elect ‘their’ representatives. The task of the representative in this mythical understanding of democracy is to simply represent and execute the ‘will of people’.

The reality is this mythical ‘people’ does not exist. People are simply the ruled or the governed: subjects of kings in earlier times and other citizens at best in modern democracies. Citizenship is merely the membership of a political community that entitles you to certain rights and is always the attribute of the individual—though occasionally we might loosely talk of communities too as rights-bearing entities.

Democracies relentlessly attempt to reduce populations into passive entities that can be manipulated at will by rulers or demagogues. But the reality, equally, is that the people often play their rulers or prospective rulers too. Democratic politics ties the ruler and the ruled—the ‘people’ and their ‘representative’—in a complex dynamic that results in electoral outcomes which quite often defy descriptions like mandates and verdicts.

The year 1967 constitutes a turning point in the democratic history of India. That was the time when the giant figure of Jawaharlal Nehru had already passed, as had his successor Lal Bahadur Shastri. Twenty years after independence, the ruling Congress was facing its first major crisis in terms of popular legitimacy and it lost power in nine states. The leadership issue was open at that point.

For the first time since independence, we saw the emergence of a wide array of regional and relatively backward caste parties like the Dravida Munnetra Kazhgham (DMK) in Tamil Nadu, Bharatiya Kranti Dal (BKD) in Uttar Pradesh, and Samyukta Socialist Party (SSP) in ruling coalitions, even if most of them were short-lived. In UP, Charan Singh crossed over to the opposition with many Congress MLAs to become the CM of a non-Congress coalition government. In West Bengal and Kerala, the new coalition governments were dominated by Left parties.

Indira Gandhi was still a novice, who became leader as a compromise between the left and right wings in the Congress. The rise of non-Congress governments, often coalitions with no substantial political vision, demonstrated simply that the old Congress hegemony was collapsing. The outcome was hardly a ‘mandate’—either for any particular party or for any alternative set of policies.

More interesting is the fact that in the next two years, as Indira Gandhi got down to crafting her own political persona, she produced a new configuration in politics with her ‘left turn’. With nationalisation of 14 banks in 1969, followed by abolition of privy purses in 1971 and finally her slogan of ‘Garibi hatao’ in the general elections that year, Indira actually created her own mandate. The people, voting with their feet by deserting the Congress in 1967, had forced Indira Gandhi to take cognisance of the reasons behind popular discontent and come out with a credible programme.

EXPRESS

Democratic politics ties the ruler and the ruled—the people and their representative—in a complex dynamic that results in outcomes which quite often defy descriptions like mandates & verdicts. A comparison of the policies enacted after elections in 1967, 2004 & 2014 illustrate the point

It is another matter, of course, that the new vision that she brought into the party was to remain largely on paper, as powerful vested interests within and outside would ensure that the new vision be subverted. Indira herself might not have wanted to take her own radical rhetoric very seriously beyond a point.

The experience of the first UPA government presents us with a very different picture. Formed after the 2004 elections, the UPA emerged from a constellation of political forces that had worked closely during the preceding six years of NDA rule under Atal Bihari Vajpayee. The Congress, the Left parties and numerous social movements that came together to craft a Common Minimum Programme once again produced a mandate for themselves, with one difference: the programme was the result of years of work on the ground.

It therefore led to enactment of landmark legislations like the Scheduled Tribes (Recognition of Forests Rights) Act, the Right to Information Act and the National Rural Employment Guarantee Act, apart from a number of other critical interventions. To be sure, there were other forces at work too within the UPA government that found this orientation inimical to its interests, leading to a wholesale attack on the National Advisory Council that was primarily an advisory body that provided the government a non-bureaucratic feedback channel.

In sharp contrast stands the 2014 election, where the agenda was set up symbolically in the divisive figure of Narendra Modi. Even with formal slogans of vikas or development, most people who voted knew exactly what they were voting for or against. Behind the scenes, as always, were also those who wanted to reverse the changes initiated by the UPA government, especially ones like those embodied in the Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Act 2013, which had been enacted in response to a major struggle against dispossession. The overt agenda was very different from this covert one. Even though some people may have been led into believing the slogans on development, given the total control of information flows, the core support for the regime came from a series of messages purveyed by the IT cell.

An entirely new definition of ‘the people’ was thus put in place—a people that was called into being through invocation. The ‘mandate’, once again, simply followed.

Damocles sword

Ref: Stunning mandate puts question mark on Modi 3.0’s stability (Jun 5). Without a simple majority for the BJP, instability will be hanging like a Damocles sword over the new NDA government. The formidable Chandrababu Naidu and Nitish Kumar have to be managed most strategically. Ditching NDA to join India bloc would be treacherous on their part vis-a-vis the NDA voters.

Economy worries

Ref: India renews its passport to democracy (Jun 5). If Rahul Gandhi succeeds in influencing governmental decisions, as the author believes he will, that will be wonderful for the country. The only anxiety is, in the process, the economy of the country should not plummet to 1991 levels when for buying some essential petroleum, we had to sell our scant gold reserves.

Nano factor

When Tata motors started their Nano car as a ₹1-lakh car, it lost its market gradually as it started to represent the poor person’s vehicle. Instead, if the car was launched without any price tag, it might have been more successful. In these elections, the BJP would have been fine just winning the election and forming the next government without the unnecessary war cry of winning over 400 seats.

Alternative parties

The results highlight the poor performance of the CPM-led government in Kerala. Either way, it is high time the people of Kerala consider alternative parties instead of the UDF and LDF.

People’s interests

The people of the nation must be appreciated for the way they crippled the NDA. It has been done in a dignified democratic way. It is a lesson for those on the throne to be moderate and accommodative in nature without discrimination of any sort for their own best interests and that of the country.

Historic moment

The hat-trick by PM Narendra Modi to sit on the saddle for the third time after six decades is a proud moment in India’s history. The NDA would have crossed 350 seats as per exit poll predictions had it not experienced major losses in UP, West Bengal and Rajasthan. The unfortunate truth is that the politics of development never resonate with the vast majority of people.

After a meeting in Delhi, INDIA bloc ends suspense over possibility of staking claim to form govt, says it will continue to fight against BJP

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge with INDIA bloc leaders at his residence in New Delhi on Wednesday | SHEKHAR YADAV

A DAY after Lok Sabha election results threw up big surprises, the Opposition INDIA bloc ended the suspense over the possibility of staking its claim on the government formation, saying the alliance will continue its fight against the fascist rule.

Speaking after a meeting of the INDIA bloc leaders, Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge on Wednesday said the INDIA bloc will continue to fight against the fascist rule of the BJP led by Modi and "take appropriate steps at an appropriate time to realize people's desire not to be ruled by the BJP government".

The development comes as a meeting of the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) leaders unanimously chose Narendra Modi as their leader for the NDA 3.0 on Wednesday. Modi is expected to take oath as Prime Minister for the straight third term on June 8.

Kharge further said that the Lok Sabha poll results were a "befitting reply to the BJP."

"The people's mandate has given a befitting reply to the BJP and their politics of hate, corruption and deprivation. This is a political and moral defeat of Prime Minister Narendra Modi," he said.

"The mandate is on the defence of the Constitution of India, price rise, unemployment, and to save democracy," he added. The INDIA bloc has collectively bagged 232 seats while the NDA secured 292 seats.

Apart from Kharge, the meeting was attended by 25 leaders including Sonia Gandhi, Rahul Gandhi, Priyanka Gandhi Vadra and NCP's Sharad Pawar and Supriya Sule. Shiv Sena (UBT) chief Uddhav Thackeray was not present at the meeting.

While MK Stalin and TR Balu from DMK attended, other attendees included SP's Akhilesh Yadav, RJD's Tejashwi Yadav and TMC's Abhishek Banerjee, among others.

While speculation was rife on the alliance reaching out to the two potential kingmakers Telugu Desham Party's (TDP) N Chandrababu Naidu and Bihar Chief Minister and JD(U) leader Nitish Kumar, a Congress leader said they will act on the right time. "Anything can happen. We have adopted a wait and watch approach," he said.

Earlier, both Naidu and Kumar have dismissed any possibility of switching sides and asserted that they will be part of the NDA alliance. However, early on Wednesday morning, the visuals of RJD leader Tejashwi Yadav and Nitish Kumar sitting next to each other on a flight to Delhi have sparked speculation about the JD(U) chief's next move.

When asked about it, Yadav said, "I have just landed in Delhi, and one needs to have patience for these things. Just wait and watch what happens". However, RJD leader Manoj Jha underscored the camaraderie between the parties.

"Why are these visuals surprising to anyone? The RJD and JD(U)) have worked together as well as separately. The visuals just represent the respect Tejashwi Yadav has for Nitish Kumar," said Jha.

However, Pawar dismissed reports that he had spoken to Naidu and Kumar for support. "We have not talked to anyone. I have an opinion that we should think about the next step after seeing the number. We have a number, we can't overlook it."

BJP unlikely to part with six crucial ministries

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

AFTER receiving reaffirmation of the alliance promise from its allies to stay together under the Modi leadership, the BJP has reportedly drawn the line on the top cabinet berths. Sources said the BJP is unlikely to compromise on at least six key ministries with NDA partners. These ministries are: the Railway, Home, Finance, Defence, Law and Information Technology.

Sources said the allies have set their sight on 10-12 ministries. Meanwhile, the BJP further shored up its ally support: Seven independent and 3 from small parties came forward to support the BJP. With 10 more MPs, the NDA has the backing of 303 MPs.

The Modi government in its third consecutive term is known to take some bold decisions related to the pivotal ministries as per its Sankalp-Patra and for translating the PM Modi's vision of making India the third largest economy globally. Modi has already spoken about a renewed push to the railway infrastructure and self-reliance in the defence sector.

"In the coming days, as the PM hinted in his pot-poll address, big-ticket decisions will be taken. The role of the Home Ministry will be crucial in facilitating the implementation of some decisions", said a senior BJP leader. "The ministerial berth demands of the allies will be considered barring these six ministries," he said.

Sources said though NDA leaders deliberated on the finer aspects of the support deal such as the government formation at a meeting on Wednesday, no firm decision was taken on allocation of plum portfolios.

Major demands are likely to come from key allies such as the TDP and JD (U), which have won 16 and 12 seats respectively. Besides these two parties, Shiv Sena (Shinde) has won 7 seats, LJP (RV) 5 and HAM 1.

Their demands for ministerial berths are expected to figure at the NDA parliamentary party meeting on June 7.

NDA sources said the JD(U) is considering two MoS posts while Shiv Sena (Shinde) has reportedly put in its demand for a cabinet berth and two Minister of State (MoS)posts.

The LJP (RV) has not yet spelled out its demands officially. However, party sources hinted that it was looking at one cabinet for Chirag Paswan and two MoS posts for its other MPs, including the country's youngest MP, Shambhavi Chaudhary who won from Bihar's Samastipur.

The HAM, led by former Bihar CM Jitan Ram Manjhi, who has been elected from Gaya, is learnt to have asked for one cabinet-rank post. The party, sources said, wants a berth for its founder leader Manjhi.

Meanwhile, RLD chief Jayant Singh posted on X a group picture of leaders of the NDA constituents with the caption, 'United for the nation! #NDA'.

"India's vibrant democracy ensures our position as a bright spot in the region. NDA in its 3rd term will further cement our leadership in the global economy,"' he said in a post.

DEMANDS NDA PARTNERS MAY PUT FORTH

- BJP may keep railway, home, finance, defence, law and IT
- NDA allies TDP has won 16 seats, JDU 12, Shiv Sena (Shinde) 7, LJP(RV) 5 and HAM 1
- They will make their demands at NDA meeting on June 7
- JDU may seek 2 MoS posts, besides Cabinet berth(s)
- Shiv Sena (Shinde faction) eyes 1 Union Cabinet and 2 MoS posts
- LJP(RV) is likely to vie for 1 Cabinet post and 2 MoS posts
- HAM may seek a ministry or Cabinet rank berth for its founder Jitan Ram Manjhi (won from Gaya)

Decimation of 'neutral' parties

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE Lok Sabha election results showed that the parties, which maintained an equidistance from the NDA and INDIA bloc, have been decimated, experts said.

The Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP) in UP, which did not align with either pro- or anti-Modi groupings, could not get a single seat. The Bharat Rashtra Samiti (BRS) in Telangana and Siromani Akali Dal (SAD) in Punjab also faced a similar fate.

The Biju Janata Dal (BJD) in Odisha and YSR Congress Party (YSRCP) in Andhra Pradesh, which stayed out of alliance blocs, received a double blow, as the two parties not only got reduced to political insignificance at national level, but they lost power in assembly polls.

Commenting on the results, retired Patna University professor NK Chowdhary told this newspaper that politics is all about taking pole positions and no one can afford to be a fence-sitter in elections particularly where "you have a strong polarising personality leading from the front."

"In politics neutrality means nothing, as this can only be true and of some use in academics. But politics is not academics. Elections are there to take positions and if you don't, the blocs see you with suspicion," Chowdhary said.

"Neutrality weakens your strength and the same has happened to these parties."

Political analyst and Delhi University professor Dhiraj Kumar said the country appeared to be divided between "pro-Modi and anti-Modi" blocs and the sentiments were seen on these lines in different states.

"In UP, people voted either in support of PM Modi or against him. Since Mayawati's BSP was seen supporting neither the ruling NDA nor the opposition INDIA bloc, people had no choice but to dump her. Similarly, in Tamil Nadu people voted against PM Modi and the result was such that all 40 seats including one in neighbouring Puducherry went to the INDIA bloc led by the DMK and the Congress in the state," Kumar said.

> In UP, people voted either in support of PM Modi or against him. Since Mayawati's BSP was seen supporting neither the ruling NDA nor the opposition INDIA bloc, people had no choice but to dump her
>
> Dhiraj Kumar, Delhi University professor and political analyst

Among the losers the YSRCP tops the chart as the party came down from its 22 members in the lower house in 2019 to 4. BJD has been reduced to 1 from its strength of 12. The BSP has been reduced to nil from eight after 2019 elections and the BRS which had 8 members in the Lok Sabha drew a blank this time.

During the course of Prime Minister Narendra Modi's tenure between 2019 and 2024, these parties supported crucial government bills in Parliament and took equidistance position during the election time.

Loss of 38 seats in 5 states: Has BJP paid the price for 'ignoring' farmers?

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

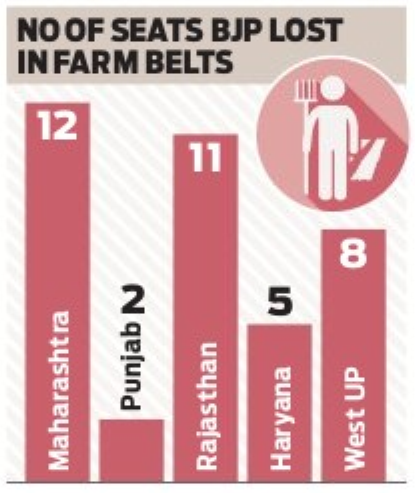
THE BJP got a major setback in Lok Sabha polls in states marked by farmers' protests, resulting in the party falling short of the majority mark.

The Narendra Modi-led government had ignored the farmers' demands and the ruling party lost seats which it had won in 2019 in different states. Moreover, Union Minister of Agriculture and Farmers' Welfare Arjun Munda lost by a big margin in Jharkhand.

The BJP has lost around 38 seats mostly confined to protesting farmers' belts, such as western UP, Punjab, Haryana, northern Rajasthan and onion-growing belt in Maharashtra. In many places the BJP leaders had not been able to conduct their campaign.

Farmers resumed their protest in February to march towards Delhi but they were halted at Punjab-Haryana border. Farmers from Haryana and western UP had not been allowed to enter the capital. Experts say the impact of farmers' protests has hurt the BJP's prospects in other states too.

NO OF SEATS BJP LOST IN FARM BELTS



In western UP, the BJP lost polls in Muzaffarnagar, Saharanpur, Kairana, Nagina, Moradabad, Sambhal, Rampur, and also Lakhimpur Kheri where BJP minister Ajay Mishra Teni's son ran over protesting farmers.

The BJP lost its two seats it had won in the previous election in Punjab, besides 11 seats in Rajasthan and five in Haryana. The party lost 12 out 13 seats in onion-growing belt of Maharashtra.

Farmers have been protesting for the past four years to get legally guaranteed price for their produce as per Swaminathan Commission's recommendation. They also demand debt waiver and repeal of privatisation of the power sector.

In Maharashtra, government had first curbed the export and later put a ban on onion export to control domestic price in 2023. Maharashtra is the largest producer of onion in the country where onion farmers' clout expands to 14 parliamentary constituencies. Onion farmers protested the move but government ignored them.

"Government had taken a series of decisions which were against the interest of onion farmers and traders. It led to a crash of price which hit traders and farmers," said Khandu Kaka Devre, president of Nashik District Onion Traders Association.

He said anger of onion farmers is still simmering and they will again act against the government in upcoming assembly elections.

Farmers' organisation Samyukt Kisan Morcha (SKM) has congratulated people for denying the BJP a majority in the Lok Sabha.

Biden, other world leaders congratulate Modi

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

US President Joe Biden, British PM Rishi Sunak, French President Emmanuel Macron, and Russian President Vladimir Putin were among a host of world leaders who congratulated Prime Minister Narendra Modi, who is set for a third term in the top post.

"Congratulations PM Modi and the NDA on their victory and nearly 650 million voters in this historic election. The friendship between our nations is only growing as we unlock a shared future of unlimited potential," said President Biden.

Meanwhile, British Prime Minister Rishi Sunak called Modi and spoke with him. "The UK and India share the closest of friendships, and together that friendship will continue to thrive," said Sunak.

Russian President Vladimir Putin also called Modi to wish him success and sent a congratulatory letter.

Modi received congratulatory messages from leaders across various countries for his third term as PM of India. These countries include the US, UK, France, Italy, China, Israel, Japan, and Spain, among others.

"Congratulations to Narendra Modi on the new electoral victory and my warmest wishes for good work. I am certain that we will continue to work together to strengthen the friendship that unites Italy and India and consolidate cooperation on various issues that bind us," said Italian Prime Minister Giorgia Meloni.

Modi thanked her and others for their wishes, saying that India is committed to deepening the India-Italy strategic partnership, underpinned by shared values and interests.

After his swearing-in, PM Modi is likely to embark on his first international trip to Italy to attend the G7 Summit, where he has been invited by PM Meloni. The Summit is slated to be held from June 13th to 15th in Borgo Egnazia in Apulia.

In the wishes extended by China, the Chinese Ministry of Foreign Affairs (MFA) spokesperson said, "Congratulations to PM Modi, BJP, and the NDA on the election victory. We look forward to a healthy and stable China-India relationship."

President of ROC Taiwan, Lai Ching-te, also extended his wishes, to which PM Modi said he was looking forward to closer ties with Taiwan through technological and economic partnerships.

PM Modi responded to most of the congratulatory messages that came from leaders of various countries.

"India has just concluded the world's largest elections. Congratulations Narendra Modi, my dear friend," said French President Emmanuel Macron.

In response to wishes from Israeli PM Netanyahu and Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy, PM Modi said that India will continue to support peace and security.

BJP retains 2 Jammu seats, but vote share drops as Cong manages to improve show

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

ALTHOUGH BJP retained both its Lok Sabha seats in Jammu and Kashmir for a third term, its vote bank dropped between 5 and 10%, while Congress, despite losing both seats, has witnessed an increase in vote bank.

It is a mixed bag for NC, which won two Valley seats and lost one, while PDP chief Mehbooba Mufti's vote bank has decreased. The vote share of jailed ex-MLA Er Rashid, who created a major upset by winning the Baramulla seat, has doubled.

Of the five LS seats, BJP retained both Jammu and Udhampur seats while NC retained two seats (Srinagar and Anantnag), but the party's vice president and former CM Omar Abdullah suffered shock defeat at hands of jailed ex-MLA Er Rashid.

Dr Jitendra Singh, who retained the Udhampur seat for a third successive term, secured 5,71,076 votes with 51.28% vote share. His vote share has dropped by nearly 10%. Singh had got 61.24% vote share in 2019 polls when he had secured 7,24,311 votes.

His opponent, Lal Singh of Congress, secured 4,46,703 votes with 40.11% vote share. The Congress's vote bank from the seat has increased by nearly 10%. In the 2019 polls, Congress's Vikramditya Singh got 31.04% vote share.

In the Jammu seat, where BJP's Jugal Kishore won for third term, the party's vote bank has dropped by nearly 5%. In the 2019 polls, Jugal secured 57.81% of the vote share compared to 52.8% of the vote share this time.

DAMS RUN DRY

At least 8 out of 24 dams in Nashik district are left with no water stock, exacerbating the water scarcity situation amid scorching heat, officials said on Wednesday. The remaining 16 dams hold 5,862 MCFT (8.93 %) water stock as of June 5.

MP BJP eyes maximum representation in Modi cabinet after clean sweep

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

A day after Madhya Pradesh saw a clean sweep of 29 Lok Sabha seats by the BJP, the state party circles, while hoping for four-five berths in Narendra Modi's new team, are speculating who all will finally make it to the next union council of ministers. Several names are doing rounds, but former CM Shivraj Singh Chouhan, union ministers Jyotiraditya Scindia and Faggan Singh Kulaste and state BJP chief VD Sharma remain the front runners.

A win of 8.21 lakh votes from saffron citadel Vidisha makes the former MP CM and sixth-time MP from the central MP seat a strong favourite to get a key

Hints about a future role for Chouhan in Delhi were already dropped by PM Modi at a poll rally in Narmadapuram district in April. Further, Scindia – who was already a key minister in Modi 2.0 and is considered close to both Modi and Amit Shah -- is again nearly certain to get a major responsibility in the union cabinet, given his past performance of heading the civil aviation and steel ministries.

Scindia won his Guna seat by a margin of 5.40 lakh votes. Another contender for a union cabinet berth is state BJP president VD Sharma, who retained his Khajuraho seat by 5.41 lakh votes. Other contenders for place in the Modi 3.0 team include union minister Faggan Singh Kulaste, a powerful tribal leader, who won the Mandla-ST seat record seventh time, this time by over one lakh votes. Union minister Dr Virendra Khatik, who won from Tikamgarh-SC seat fourth time, is also in the race for another stint in Team Modi, particularly over being the SC face.

The other probable includes fifth-time OBC MP from Satna seat Ganesh Singh, second time Indore MP Shankar Lalwani (who won by 11.72 lakh votes and may get

Third-time Mandsaur MP Sudhir Gupta too remains a strong contender. Not just newly elected LS members, but woman Rajya Sabha member Sumitra Valmiki may be considered. There were five ministers in Modi 2.0 regime — Scindia, Khatik, Kulaste, Prahlad Patel and Narendra Tomar.

6-seat victory rekindles hope of UP Cong revival

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

AFTER putting up an intense fight against rival BJP, Congress — which was reduced to just one seat in the 2019 general election — bounced back emphatically by winning six seats in Uttar Pradesh, politically the most crucial state of the country, in the 2024 Lok Sabha elections.

The party sprung the surprise by winning five seats and reclaiming its bastion in Amethi, from where party's poll manager KL Sharma emerged as a giant killer, handing out a crushing defeat to Union Minister and high-profile BJP candidate Smriti Irani.

Irani had defeated the then Congress chief Rahul Gandhi in Amethi by 55,000 votes in the 2019 general election.

While Rahul opted for Rae Bareli, the seat which was vacated by his mother, Sonia Gandhi who decided to get routed to Rajya Sabha from Rajasthan earlier this margin of over 1.67 lakh votes.

Lakhanpal by a margin of over 64,000 votes.

The other seats which the party won included Sitapur (Rakesh Rathore), Allahabad (Ujjwal Raman Singh), Barabanki (Tanju Punia) besides Raebareli (Rahul Gandhi) and Amethi (KL Sharma).

As per the political experts, Congress' performance was essentially driven by the party's successful positioning on the national scale, besides the successful transfer of votes from its ally, the Samajwadi Party.

Congress vote share rose from 6.36 in 2019 to over 9%.

In 2019, Congress had a 6.36% vote share when contested on 67 seats. This time, it took the figure to 9% while contesting just 17 seats.

Moreover, the Congress-SP alliance succeeded in beating the BJP, which slipped to 36 in the state from 64 in 2019, through its narrative against Modi's '400 paar' call, claiming that if given that mammoth majority, BJP would change the Constitution of India to do away with the reservation for SC/ST and OBCs.

Gandhi and SP Chief Akhilesh Yadav also promised a caste census to ensure share in various caste groups in governance as per their number in the social strata. PDA also clicked with the voters, and a drift of the BSP vote bank towards the opposition alliance was visible on the ground. Moreover, the reiteration of ~8,500 monthly assistance to women Gandhi in his rallies also fetched votes.

After Raj Cong fightback, cracks within BJP widen, future tense for Sharma

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

AFTER a significant shift in the Lok Sabha election results in Rajasthan, a disturbing flux within the ruling BJP seems to have set in. Factionalism has intensified in the saffron camp. The BJP, which bagged all 25 seats in Rajasthan in the last two elections, has been reduced to 14 seats, while the tally of the Congress and its allies has gone up to 11.

Following their improved performance, the Congress has renewed its attack on the BJP. "There is no doubt that the people were angry with the government. They were upset with the Prime Minister's indecent language and his practice of asking for votes by visiting temples," said Govind Singh Dotasara, the state Congress chief.

"Out of the 25 BJP representatives here, 24 were useless people sitting in Delhi who could not do any work. The people were angry with them too," said Dotasara. In the face of Congress attacks, silence prevailed in the BJP camp. Chief Minister Bhajanlal Sharma, party state chief CP Joshi and other prominent leaders have remained quiet. They have issued statements congratulating the formation of the NDA government at the Centre but they have not commented on the results in Rajasthan.

Bikaner's newly elected MP and Union Minister Arjun Ram Meghwal traveled to Delhi on Wednesday by train to attend the Modi Cabinet meeting. Forest Minister Sanjay Sharma announced that the reasons for the defeat in 11 seats will be reviewed.

The party's underperformance has sparked speculation that it may create trouble for CM Bhajanlal Sharma. In the last assembly elections, the BJP leadership replaced the old CMs in Chhattisgarh and Madhya Pradesh with new faces. Under CM Vishnudev Sai, the BJP won 10 of the 11 seats in Chhattisgarh. In MP, led by Mohanlal Yadav, the party bagged all 29 seats. In this context, questions are being raised about Sharma's leadership. Since the assembly polls, other factions, including former CM Vasundhara Raje, are unhappy with Sharma as CM. Consequently, the buzz on removing has intensified.

After NE jolt to NDA, Cong rises like phoenix in Nagaland

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @Guwahati

A joke on social media summed up the upset in Nagaland where the Congress emerged from oblivion to win the lone parliamentary seat.

The joke revolves around the defeat of the NDA's consensus candidate, Dr Chumben Murry of the Nationalist Democratic Progressive Party (NDPP). Murry lost to Congress' S Supongmeren Jamir despite enjoying the support of all 60 state MLAs, including Chief Minister Neiphiu Rio. The case of the Congress in Nagaland has been like the proverbial phoenix rising from the ashes.

NDPP fails to retain seats

The Naga People's Front (NPF), which had decimated the Congress in the 2003 election. In 2018, the newly-floated NDPP stopped the NPF's juggernaut by rising to power in alliance with the BJP. This formation retained power in 2023

Jamir's comeback

Dr Chumben Murry of the Nationalist Democratic Progressive Party (NDPP) lost to Congress' S Supongmeren Jamir despite enjoying the support of all 60 state MLAs. Jamir thanked voters for reposing faith in him

The Congress ruled the Christian-majority state multiple times but virtually faded into history after the era of former Chief Minister SC Jamir ended in 2003.

The Naga People's Front (NPF), which had decimated the Congress in the 2003 election, was at the helm for three consecutive terms. In 2018, the newly-floated NDPP stopped the NPF's juggernaut by rising to power in alliance with the BJP. This formation retained power in 2023 by sweeping the polls.

Since 2003, the Congress had been losing ground. The party was virtually lost in the state. It neither had organizational strength nor charismatic leaders. It was so weakened that it could not win a single seat in the 2023 polls.

Against such a backdrop, the Congress went to the polls. Not many thought it could take on the might of the ruling NDA parties, but it stunned everyone.

Jamir, the state Congress chief and a former MLA, thanked the voters for reposing their faith in him. He felt that Congress leader Rahul Gandhi's Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra, which passed through Nagaland, had an impact on the voters.

"The wave in the Congress' favour was created by Rahul ji during Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra. People wanted to safeguard democracy. We, the Nagas, stand for equality, and it means there should not be any discrimination against anyone based on religion or whatever," Jamir, a law graduate who earned the sobriquet "Superman" this election, told this newspaper on Wednesday.

If the results of this election are anything, the Congress also revived in Manipur and Meghalaya. It upset the NDA by winning the two seats in ethnic violence-hit Manipur and the Tura seat in Meghalaya.

BJP's Maha rout: Fadnavis offers to quit as deputy CM

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

AFTER the BJP drubbing in Maharashtra in the Lok Sabha elections, party leader Devendra Fadnavis on Wednesday offered to resign as the state's deputy chief minister taking responsibility for the losses. The BJP's Lok Sabha tally came down from 23 to 9 in the state.

Fadnavis said he will request the party's national leadership to accept his resignation. He said he wants to work at the organisational level to get the party ready to face the October Assembly elections in Maharashtra.

Dissecting what went wrong for the BJP in the state, Fadnavis said it failed to counter the Opposition's narrative of Samvidhan Bachav (Save the Constitution), which damaged its prospects in a big way.

As per sources, Fadnavis decided to resign as Dy CM after the central leadership called him and expressed displeasure over the BJP's poor performance.

But, state BJP president Chandrashekar Bawankule said no one had asked Fadnavis to resign. "We are surprised by his decision. We want him to remain in the government," he said.

Maharashtra CM Eknath Shinde said the BJP, Shiv Sena and the NCP contested together, so the three should collectively take responsibility for the losses.

4 C'garh netas beyond Durg carry outsider tag, lose election this time

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

THREE senior Congress leaders and a BJP leader from Durg district, who contested from other Lok Sabha constituencies in Chhattisgarh, lost the polls this time, apparently due to their outsider tag.

Congress fielded former chief minister Bhupesh Baghel, a legislator from Patan seat, from Rajnandgaon Lok Sabha constituency, a BJP stronghold. Baghel lost to BJP candidate Santosh Pandey by 44,411 votes despite his popularity over his schemes as CM.

The BJP got a shock from Korba Lok Sabha seat where Rajya Sabha MP and party vice-president Saroj Pandey lost to Jyotsana Mahant of the Congress by a margin of 44,483 votes. Pandey lost in the constituency from where there are two cabinet ministers in the Vishnu Deo Sai government.

The BJP won six out of the eight assembly segments of Korba LS constituency in last year's state polls. Pandey was elected as an MLA in 2008 and a Lok Sabha MP in 2009.

Senior Congress leader Tamrdhwaj Sahu, who was the state home minister in the Bhupesh Baghel cabinet and won Lok Sabha elections from Durg seat in 2014, lost to BJP's new face Roop Kumari Chowdhary in Mahasamund constituency by 145,456 votes.

In Bilaspur LS constituency, Congress MLA Devendra Yadav fought against first-time BJP candidate Tokhan Sahu and lost by a margin of 164,558 votes.

In these four seats, the BJP banked on Modi magic in the poll battle against the Congress. The saffron party continued to maintain its winning streak following the 2023 Assembly polls and bagged 10 out of the 11 Lok Sabha seats in the state.

The BJP's campaign in the Lok Sabha polls was based on Modi Ki Guarantee and good governance of Vishnu Deo Sai government in the state. The Congress banked on on 5 Nyay promises and 25 guarantees besides accused the BJP of trying to abolish reservations and the Constitution.

Rescue ops began on June 4 night; K'taka min reaches Dehradun, meets rescued trekkers

"I have discussed with officers involved in the rescue operation. We are working with the local authorities to transport all nine bodies to Dehradun, subject to weather conditions. Five bodies are currently in Uttarkashi and four on the trekking route. All arrangements are being made to transport the bodies to Bengaluru as soon as possible," Byregowda said.

He also spoke to the rescued trekkers who are housed in Bijapur Guest House in Dehradun. "The weather began to to turn bad when they were starting the trek back to the base camp around 2pm Tuesday," he said.

The rescued trekkers who were sent to Dehradun are Soumya Canale (37), Smruti Dolas (40), Sheena Lakshmi (47), S Shiva Jyoti (45), Anil Jamtige Arunachal Bhatt (52), Bharat Bommana Gouder (53), Madhu Kiran Reddy (52) and Jayaprakash B S (61). S Sudhakar (65), Vinay MK (47) and Vivek Sridhar (38) were rescued and are in Natin-Bhatwadi, while two other trekkers — Naveen A (39) and Ritika Jindal (37) — reached Silla village and are doing fine.

The trekkers were sent by Himalayan View Trekking Agency, Maneri, on May 29 on a 35-km long trek.

Principal Secretary, DMD, Rashmi Mahesh said the Uttarkashi administration had contacted them to inform about the incident. "The administrations of both states are working together on this. Disaster Response Force personnel are also working on the rescue operation."

HIMALAYAN TASK

- 11 trekkers were brought to Natin helipad by an Air Force helicopter; eight were dropped at Sahastradhara Dehradun by two civil helicopters
- Two have reached Silla village and are being brought to District Hospital, Uttarkashi, via Bhatwadi by a rescue team and ambulance
- Bodies of five deceased were brought to Natin helipad on Army's Cheetah helicopter; they are at District Hospital, Uttarkashi, where medical procedures are being done
- Ten forest officials, two revenue sub-inspectors, Home Guards and local villagers from Silla were sent to the site for search and rescue operation
- Five mountaineering teams of Nehru Mountaineering Institute were deployed in Laata village as backup for the rescue operation

Byregowda spoke to Chief Minister Siddaramaiah from Dehradun and apprised him of the situation. Siddaramaiah spoke to one of the rescued, Bhatta, over phone, and collected details about the tragic incident and measures that need to be taken.

Sharing the trekkers' experience, Byre Gowda said: "On June 3, two trekkers exited the main group and continued forward. They were unaffected by the incident. On June 3 morning, the group of 20 trekkers and guides went from Lambtal camp site to Sahastra Tal, to return to camp. Around 2pm, when they were about two hours from the camp, it started to snow and by 4pm, it intensified into a blizzard. By 6pm, two trekkers succumbed to the bad weather. Snow and wind made movement impossible, and visibility dropped to zero. They huddled together for the night during which a few more died. On June 4 morning, a guide set off to reach a place where mobile connectivity could be established. In the meantime, some of the trekkers who were in a condition to move, started towards the camp by around 11am. The guides went to the camp and returned with supplies for the stranded trekkers. On June 4 evening, a guide managed to reach a point where phone signal was available and intimated the authorities about the situation."

The Karnataka Mountaineering Association and Indian Mountaineering Federation alerted the agencies concerned, and the governments of Karnataka and Uttarakhand began making preparations from June 4 night. The Army, Air Force, SDRF and various government agencies were ready for the rescue mission at 5am on June 5.

SUNAK, STARMER SPAR OVER TAX, INFLATION IN TV DEBATE

Farage contesting July 4 polls is bad news for the Conservatives

LONDON

BRITISH Prime Minister Rishi Sunak and opposition Labour Party leader Keir Starmer sparred on Tuesday over tax, the cost of living and the country's creaking health system in an inconclusive televised debate ahead of a July 4 election expected to make one of them the country's next leader.

Sunak tried to boost his center-right party's dismal outlook by urging voters to back the stability of continued Conservative government. Starmer hoped to cement his status as favorite by arguing that Britain desperately needs change. Both acknowledged the country's many problems, from fraying public services to a broken immigration system. But neither could say outright, when asked, where the money would come from to fix them.

Sunak stressed his stewardship of the economy, which has seen inflation fall to just over 2% from a peak of more than 11% in late 2022. He said should stick with him because his "clear plan" for the economy was working.

Starmer said the election was a choice between more "chaos and division" with the Conservatives and "turning the page and rebuilding with Labour." Polls currently give center-left Labour a double-digit lead. To win, Starmer must persuade voters who previously backed the Tories that Labour can be trusted with the UK's economy, borders and security.

Speaking in front of a live audience, both Starmer and Sunak appeared nervous.

Voters may have got the impression their choice is between two cautious and rather dull managers. Both stuck to familiar themes. Sunak argued Labour would raise taxes because "it's in their DNA."

The debate came a day after populist firebrand Nigel Farage roiled the campaign, and dealt a blow to Sunak's hopes, by announcing he will run for Parliament at the helm of the right-wing party Reform UK.

Farage kicked off his campaign on Tuesday. His return, a key Brexit player, is bad news for Sunak's party.

Reform look likely to siphon off votes of socially conservative older voters, a group the Tories have been targeting.

Nigel Farage

Farage claimed the Conservatives, who have been in office since 2010, had "betrayed" Brexit supporters because immigration had gone up, rather than down, since the UK left the European Union.

He urged voters to "send me to Parliament to be a bloody nuisance." AP

South Africa sports minister arrested on bribery charges

JOHANNESBURG

A South African Cabinet minister who is a senior member of the African National Congress was arrested and appeared in court on Wednesday over allegations of bribery, just as his party was meeting for talks to work out a way forward for the country after an election deadlock. Sports, Arts and Culture Minister Zizi Kodwa faces charges of taking bribes of around $90,000, according to police.

He appeared in a courtroom in Johannesburg alongside another suspect in the case. Kodwa said he intended to plead not guilty to the charges.

He resigned as minister after the court appearance but denied the allegations, according to a statement from the ministry. Kodwa, 54, is a member of the ANC's internal National Working Committee, which met Tuesday as the party discusses how it might form a government after losing its 30-year majority in an election last week. The ANC has not given any indication of which other party or parties it might strike an agreement with to co-govern but says it has met with officials from at least five other parties and talks are ongoing. Kodwa was implicated in taking bribes from a businessman at a judicial inquiry in 2021 that looked into allegations of widespread government corruption involving ANC officials and others. The allegations relate to the time when Kodwa was the national spokesperson for the ANC and later the deputy minister of state security. AP

Slovenia recognises Palestinian state

Israeli activists scuffle with Palestinian freelance journalist Saif Kwasmi during a march commemorating Jerusalem Day on Wednesday | AFP

GAZA

SLOVENIA is the latest European country to recognise a Palestinian state. The country's parliament voted on Tuesday in support of the move, following in the recent steps of Spain, Ireland and Norway–a move condemned by Israel. Slovenia's prime minister has said he sped up efforts to recognise a State of Palestine in reaction to Israel's expanding invasion of the southern Gaza city of Rafah. The monthslong offensive has largely cut off the flow of food, medicine and other supplies to Palestinians who are facing widespread hunger.

Slovenia's government endorsed a motion last week to recognise a Palestinian state and had sent the proposal to parliament for final approval, which was needed for the decision to take effect. Parliament on Tuesday voted 52 for with no one against recognition in the 90-seat parliament. The remaining lawmakers were not present for the vote.

Previously only seven members of the 27-nation European Union officially recognised a Palestinian state. Five of them are former East bloc countries that announced recognition in 1988, as did Cyprus, before joining the EU. Sweden's recognition came in 2014. In central Gaza, the Israeli military said on Tuesday that its troops backed by airstrikes have launched a ground operation into the Bureij refugee camp. Local hospital officials say a strike in the urban camp killed 11 Palestinians, including three children and a woman.

The Israeli airstrikes and ground offensives across the Gaza Strip come as international mediators wait for Israel and Hamas to respond to a new ceasefire and hostage release proposal, according to Qatar, which has played a key role in negotiations alongside Egypt and the US. Announcing the proposal last week, US President Joe Biden said the three-phase plan was Israeli. However, Israeli leaders have since appeared to distance themselves from the proposal. AP

AFTER a colossal fall on the election result day (Tuesday), the Indian equity market made a marginal recovery on Wednesday following an assurance by political allies of BJP - JDU's Nitish Kumar and TDP's Chandrababu Naidu - that they would stick with Prime Minister Narendra Modi to form the NDA government for the third consecutive term.

"Indian market exhibited a spirited recovery driven by broad based buying across various sectors, as political stability appears assured. However, attention will remain on the formation of the government and the forthcoming RBI policy meeting," said Vinod Nair, Head of Research, Geojit Financial Services.

The NSE Nifty 50 gained 735.87 points or 3.36% to close at 22,620.35, while the BSE Sensex jumped 2303.19 points or 3.10% to settle at 74,382.24. The market capitalisation of all BSE-listed firms surged to ₹ 408 lakh crore from ₹395 lakh crore, making investors wealthier by ₹ 13 lakh crore.

The fresh gains came after two indexes crashed 6% on Tuesday following a fractured mandate by voters wherein no single party could win 272 seats in the 543-seat parliamentary election. Investors had taken a hit of ₹31 lakh crore on Tuesday.

Foreign brokerage UBS said that the general election outcome was something the stock market was unprepared for and that Indian stocks may now underperform going ahead. It added that Indian market valuations have been expensive for a pretty ordinary corporate earnings growth outlook. The BSE Midcap index jumped 4.41% on Wednesday while the Smallcap index rose 2.93%.

In the Nifty 50 pack, 48 stocks ended with gains today. Adani Ports (up 7.29%), IndusInd Bank (up 7.06%) and Hindalco (up 6.46%) were the top gainers. Only two stocks - Larsen & Toubro and BPCL ended in the red in the 50-share index. Ashish Gupta, CIO, of Axis Asset Management said that markets will now keenly watch the economic policy of the government such as the budget, government's 100 day plan etc.

"The volatility faced in the last few days shows why investors should stay invested in the good days and take advantage of the declines to increase exposure to equities. I believe India has all the right ingredients in place to set the growth momentum further, added Gupta. Amidst increased volatility, there has been a rise among investors to bet on the defensive FMCG sector.

NSE handles record 1,971 cr transaction

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE National Stock Exchange (NSE) made a world record by processing 1,971 crore transactions in a single day.

"NSE handled the highest ever - world record - number of transactions in a single day today on June 5, 2024, in a 6 hours and 15 minutes (915 am to 330 pm) single trading day - 1,971 crore (19.71 billion) orders per day. 28.55 crore (280.55 million) trades per day," NSE MD and CEO Ashishkumar Chauhan said on X platform.

The record surge in volume came as benchmarks - Sensex and Nifty- made a strong comeback on Wednesday. Nifty started the session with a gap-up and extended the lead as the session progressed. The three heavyweights - HDFC Bank, ICICI Bank and Reliance Industries were the major contributors of the rally.

Sebi plans raising demat account threshold to ₹10 L

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Mumbai

SEBI is planning to raise the limit of the value of securities held in basic service demat account (BSDA) by five times to ₹ 10 lakh. Currently, an individual can hold debt securities worth up to ₹ 2 lakh and other than debt securities worth up to ₹2 lakh in a single demat account.

The Securities and Exchange Board had introduced the BSDA facilities in 2012 to promote financial inclusion. In a consultation paper issued on Wednesday, the regulator has proposed to increase these limits to ₹10 lakh. The Sebi has also asked if the ₹10-lakh limit should be across debt and other-than-debt securities or if separate limits should be retained for the two categories.

"Keeping in view the growth of benchmark indices in the previous decade and to further enhance participation of retail investors in the securities market, including participation of investors holding securities in physical form, the facility for BSDA has been reviewed and it is proposed to enhance the limit for a demat account to be categorised as BSDA," the paper said.

> To further enhance participation of retail investors in securities market, the facility for BSDA has been reviewed and it is proposed to enhance the limit for a demat a/c to be categorised as BSDA
>
> Sebi

The regulator is also reviewing the account maintenance charges (AMC) for BSDA and the services that will be provided through it.

Currently, there is no AMC for accounts that hold up to ₹1 lakh in debt securities and ₹50,000 in other-than-debt securities. This limit has been proposed to be revised to ₹4 lakh. AMC for accounts holding between ₹4 lakh and ₹10 lakh worth of securities has been proposed as ₹100. Accounts holding more than ₹10 lakh have been proposed to be considered as a regular account, and therefore be charged the regular AMC.

The changes are to further drive financial inclusion and also to further improve the ease of investing, Sebi said. "The proposed changes are aimed at achieving wider financial inclusion, encourage holding of demat accounts and to reduce the cost of maintaining securities in demat accounts for retail individual investors," the paper said.

Sebi has sought public comments on the following key proposals in the draft paper: a) whether the BSDA limit should be enhanced over and above the proposed limit of ₹10 lakh and if yes, why; and b) whether, instead of a combined limit which shall be fungible across debt and other than debt securities as proposed, separate limits should be retained for debt securities and other than debt securities?; also, whether the annual maintenance charges for BSDA should be reviewed further and if yes by how much?

Hiring activity sees 11% annual surge in May

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

THE overall hiring index shifted from 265 in May 2023 to 295 in May 2024, according to foundit Insights Tracker (fit) hiring trends for May 2024. The report says compared to the previous year, there was an (11%) increase in hiring, indicating a substantial recovery in employment opportunities.

The tracker indicated that hiring in tier-2 cities has shown consistent growth trends compared to the metropolitan areas, with cities such as Kochi, Coimbatore, and Jaipur emerging as key hiring locations.

Sekhar Garisa, CEO, foundit (previously Monster APAC & ME), a Quess company, said, "It is remarkable to note the flourishing performance of tier-2 cities in terms of hiring, outpacing their metropolitan counterparts. These cities have showcased consistent upward trends, particularly driven by the Production and Manufacturing sector, where we are witnessing a surge in recruitment." It's evident that tier-2 cities are becoming increasingly attractive hubs for businesses seeking expansion opportunities and tapping into diverse talent pools for sustainable growth, Garisa added.

Byju's US lenders begin bankruptcy proceedings

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

THE ad hoc group of term loan lenders of Byju's Alpha Inc.on Wednesday said that certain holders of the term loans and GLAS Trust Company LLC have filed petitions pursuant to Chapter 11 of the US. Bankruptcy Code to initiate involuntary Chapter 11 proceedings against Epic!, Neuron Fuel (DBA Tynker), and Tangible Play (DBA Osmo), the three US-based guarantors of the term loans in the US Bankruptcy Court.

In 2021, Byju's Alpha, Inc. was established as a US subsidiary of the firm to receive proceeds of the term loans. The firm secured a $1.2 billion term loan in November 2021. The edtech firm had acquired Epic in 2021.

In a statement, the lenders said, "Since Byju's began to default on its term loan obligations shortly after we provided Byju's Alpha with financing in 2021, we have made every effort possible to work productively and collaboratively to help Byju's cure its multiple defaults. However, it is clear that Byju's management has no intention or ability to honour its obligations under the term loans." It said Byju's founders, who also serve as the three directors of the overall enterprise—Byju Raveendran, Riju Ravindran, and Divya Gokulnath—unlawfully diverted $533 million in loan proceeds.

"As a result of Byju's failed leadership and mismanagement, significant harm has been done to Byju's businesses and the value of the Company's assets. Shareholders and lenders to the Company have seen the value of their investment deteriorate, employees and vendors have not been paid in a timely manner, and customers have suffered," it said.

The lenders said this action was taken to protect and preserve the value of Epic!, Neuron Fuel, and Tangible Play. They have also invited former employees, students, and vendors of Epic!, Neuron Fuel, and Tangible Play to anonymously share their experiences. Earlier in January, lenders initiated corporate insolvency resolution proceedings against Think & Learn before the Bengaluru Bench of the National Company Law Tribunal.

SpiceJet looking to raise $250 million to boost ops

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

CASH-starved SpiceJet Chief Ajay Singh on Wednesday said the airline will be raising around $250 million in the next couple of months to boost operations. The airline is tackling multiple headwinds, including lessor and debt woes, with Singh saying the carrier has faced "significant black swan events".

"It is difficult to kill SpiceJet....and we are trying to fix the problems," he said and asserted that the airline's balance sheet will be cleaned up over the next two quarters. Recently, the airline raised $ 150 million, and is looking for more funds to grow its fleet and clear its various debt obligations. Meanwhile, IndiGo said that they are looking at various financing options for the wide-body planes that are expected to join the airline's fleet in 2027. Speaking at a session at the CAPA India Aviation Summit 2024 here, IndiGo CEO Pieter Elbers on Wednesday said having a strong balance sheet is an asset.

In April, IndiGo announced placing a firm order for 30 A350-900 aircraft and also the option to buy 70 more such planes. Air India said that they will be retrofitting more than 100 planes, including 40 wide-body planes, and has ordered around 25,000 aircraft seats as part of revamping the fleet.

Air India chief Campbell Wilson also announced that the highly anticipated merger between Air India and Vistara is expected to be finalised by the end of the year. CAPA India had estimated $400 million to $600 million losses for the airlines in India in FY25.

MPC meet begins; strong growth rules out rate cut

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

'Policy rates likely to be kept on hold'

Given that the RBI has been repeating the aim of getting inflation to 4% on a durable basis, the policy rates are likely to be kept on hold. Going ahead, we anticipate that the MPC will contemplate rate cuts in the second half of FY25, Care Ratings said.

THE six-member rate-setting panel MPC began its three-day meeting here on Wednesday to review and decide on the course of the monetary policy, which is scheduled to be unveiled on Friday.

Neither market participants nor Mint Road watchers expect the panel to be doing something on the policy rate front but will see the central bank doing more to ensure liquidity as the economy enters the busy credit season. Some of them are even expecting the rate cut to be pushed further beyond October as well. The monetary policy committee has not changed its approach to inflation control since May 2022 when it began increasing the rates and has whacked it up 250 percentage points to 6.5%, the last hike effected in February 2023.

Analysts cite the strong growth momentum—fiscal 2024 GDP printed in a surprise 8.2% on-year driven by a more surprising Q4 growth which came in at 7.8%—and a stronger food prices as the reason for their status quo outlook. And according to them what's is need is some action on the liquidity front, which has been tight for months now—on Tuesday the system level surplus was a low ₹5,0000 crore, which is only a third of what the regulator feels like comfortable surplus. According to Aditi Nayar, the chief economist at Icra Ratings, "the latest inflation data and the food and commodities prices outlook suggest a status quo both on the rates and the stance in the upcoming review." She also rules out rate cut in the October policy review saying, "the higher-than-forecast expansion in the Indian economy in Q4FY24, which led to the full year GDP growth printing 8.2%. As a result, the likelihood of a stance change in the August review followed by a rate cut in October has eased now, unless an abundantly well distributed monsoon quells food prices in a sustainable fashion."

Headline inflation has eased significantly due to benign core inflation and has averaged 4.9% in the first four months of 2024 lower than the 2023 average of 5.7%.

The core inflation continues to trend downward, remaining below the 4% threshold for five consecutive months. However, food and beverages inflation remains elevated, averaging 7.7% in the first four months, led by double-digit inflation in vegetables and pulses. Concurring with Nayar, an analyst at Care Ratings also batted for status quo, citing the same sets of reasons.

MOIL sales registers a new high in May 2024

MOIL scales a new peak of 2.15 lakh tonnes monthly sales of manganese ore in May 2024, surpassing the previous record of 1.83 lakh tonnes in December 2019 and registering an impressive growth of 41% over May 23. Sales during Apr-May 2024, have been higher by 31.5% as compared to corresponding period last year (CPLY). Helped by market conditions, the company has increased the prices of various grades by about 65% in the current financial year. On the production front, 3.05 lakh tonnes of manganese ore production was achieved in Apr-May 2024, registering a growth of 7% over CPLY.

BLW committed to the environment

In a bid to reduce the carbon footprint and to provide green traction, Banaras Locomotive Works has stopped manufacturing Diesel Locomotives for Indian Railways. BLW, located in Varanasi, is the leading industrial unit in this area. BLW has always been conscious of its larger role with regard to its community stake holders especially towards the holy river Ganga which provides key ecosystems like biodiversity and livelihood to people living on the banks. BLW took the lead way back in late 1980s and installed two treatment plants viz. Sewage Treatment Plant (STP) of 12 MLD capacity for treatment of discharged human waste and Industrial Effluent Treatment Plant (IETP) of 3 MLD capacity for treating contaminated & mixed Petroleum Oil and Lubricants (POL).

Not just spectrum auction, other telecom reforms likely to be delayed

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

AFTER the postponement of the spectrum auction, other initiatives within the telecom ministry, such as rolling out regulations for the Telecommunication Act 2023 and implementing other telecom reforms, are likely to be delayed.

According to Department of Telecommunication (DoT) officials, the auction was deferred due to a lack of clarity within the government. Therefore, no decisions will be made on the auction until the situation becomes clearer. The DoT had planned several reforms, including curbing pesky calls and developing regulations for the Telecommunication Bill. "We don't want to conduct the spectrum auction until a new government is formed," said an official. "Initially, we considered deferring the auction for 10 days, but with no clear timeframe for government formation, we've delayed it for 20 days. This delay will impact not only the spectrum auction but also other telecom-related work," the official added. The DoT has postponed the spectrum auction to June 25. This marks the second postponement, with the previous delay attributed to the election model code of conduct. The government plans to auction eight spectrum bands for cellular services at a base price of about ₹96,317 crore. The available spectrum includes bands in the 800 MHz, 900 MHz, 1,800 MHz, 2,100 MHz, 2,300 MHz, 2,500 MHz, 3,300 MHz, and 26 GHz ranges. Reliance Jio has deposited the highest earnest money of ₹3,000 crore for the spectrum auction, granting them the ability to bid for the maximum amount of radio waves.

Analyst reports suggest that Airtel may be the biggest spender in the 2024 spectrum auction with an estimated outlay of ₹10,400 crore. Details released by the DoT indicate that Bharti Airtel submitted an earnest money deposit (EMD) of ₹1,050 crore, while Vodafone Idea deposited ₹300 crore.

Munich WC: Sarabjot tops qualifiers to enter final

India's Sarabjot Singh shot 588 to secure top spot in qualification and make the final of the men's 10m air pistol at the ISSF World Cup for rifle/pistol in Munich on Wednesday. Sarabjot became the third Indian to make the medal rounds at the Munich World Cup, after both Ramita and Esha Singh had finished sixth in earlier event finals in air rifle and air pistol.

Political change and sporting landscape

FLIPSIDE
INDRANEEL DAS

SPORTS and politics, like chalk and cheese, don't mix. They are like antipodes. Whatever is permitted in politics is considered vile in the sporting world. Sporting spirit is not what politicians are expected to have. Yet, somehow, they seem inseparable. Not just in the Indian context but elsewhere as well. The 2024 general elections have caught many by surprise with the Bharatiya Janata Party falling short of majority on its own. As of now, the coalition government is set to take charge at the centre. So what seemed like straightforward decisions earlier, may not be so now. From the Indian cricket board (BCCI) to the Sports Authority of India (SAI), things may be different.

The 2036 Olympics bid

It needs to be seen what happens to the bidding of the Olympics in 2036, which was announced by the Prime Minister in October during the International Olympic Committee (IOC) session at Mumbai. Though the process has already begun, there will be focus on the cost effectiveness of the Olympics and the hosting city. According to reports, the Tokyo Games cost about $13 billion (₹1,08,435 crore). The Rio Games had incurred losses in over a billion and the country's economy went into a tailspin. Some of the big economically healthy nations are circumspect to bid for the Games because of the cost. Forget Olympics, India had struggled after hosting the Commonwealth Games in 2010. This time, most of the nations have backed out of the race to host the CWG in 2026. The Olympic bidding process has started and going forward, the alliance also would want to have a considerable say in the hosting of the Games and final venue (right now, it is Ahmedabad). One must also keep in mind that TDP leader N Chandrababu Naidu was one of the first political leaders to start the concept of sports capital when he promoted Hyderabad as one of the most important centres. His interest in sports is well known and sports focus can shift to Andhra Pradesh. Especially, after the Naveen Patnaik's BJD government fell.

What lies ahead of Indian hockey

The sport that may be most affected could be hockey. The sport was literally nursed and supported by Odisha government. Odisha has been supporting hockey since 2018 and in 2023, they extended the contract for 10 years. According to the deal, the government has pledged ₹ 434.12 crore for both the men and women's teams. Only a year into the deal, the government has changed. It needs to be seen if the new BJP government continue supporting the teams or concentrate on something else. One should also keep an eye on the Hockey India leadership as well. It is no secret that the top functionaries of the HI were at loggerheads and there were multiple reports suggesting change of leadership (president's post). Former Olympian Dilip Tirkey is the HI chief and apparently held on to his position as a BJD leader and because of support from the government. Now that he has lost the Lok Sabha election, it needs to be seen how HI will continue. Not just hockey; after the fall of Patnaik government, a lot of other disciplines will also be keeping a close watch on the new BJP government. It needs to be seen if the moniker 'Sports Capital of India' remains with Bhubaneswar.

Ministry, SAI & IOA dynamics

With the Olympics on the horizon, it needs to be seen if the new government continues with the same set of officials? The SAI has not seen a change of leadership for some time with its DG getting two extensions after taking up the post in 2019. His tenure had been extended until September this year, and is likely to complete his tenure. But there will be intense scrutiny after the Olympics. One should also keep an eye on the dynamics in the Indian Olympic Association. There are two camps in IOA. One group is apparently led by senior vice president who is considered close to former home minister, along with most EC members, some whom have close ties with sports ministry and SAI officials because of various interests including sports academies. And the other one is that of IOA president against whom most of the EC members revolted after the appointment of the Chief Executive Officer.

Cricket and the way forward

Ever since Jay Shah became the defacto supremo of the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) as its secretary a few years ago, Ahmedabad has assumed an outsized influence even beyond the corridors of Indian cricket. Shah, currently head of the ICC's Finance and Commercial Affairs Committee, is tipped to run for the world governing body's post of chairman after his tenure ends later this year. While that may still happen, Ahmedabad (venue of last year's World Cup final, 2023 IPL final apart from hosting multiple big-ticket Tests since 2021) may have to settle for a diminished presence. Also, in a coalition government, the prospect of an India-Pakistan bilateral series increases. The last time both countries travelled across the border for bilateral series, Delhi had a coalition government. With the Champions Trophy on the horizon, currently slated to be held in Pakistan, one wonders if the ruling coalition government will allow the Indian team to take the journey across the border.

Different pitch, but same story in New York

Uneven bounce on NY pitch once again comes under scanner, multiple batters get hit before India get home

GOMESH S @ Chennai

Ireland's Lorcan Tucker bowled by India's Hardik Pandya (not in pic)in New York | AFP

FOR a moment, it didn't feel like New York. It was more like time had gone back to January of this year in Cape Town. India and South Africa played the shortest Test — in terms of number of deliveries — ever in the history of the sport. During the two-day affair at Newlands, the ball was swinging and bouncing unpredictably as batters fell like a deck of cards. 33 wickets fell in just 642 deliveries. The International Cricket Council rated the Cape Town pitch "unsatisfactory".

Cut to Wednesday, India were once again in the middle. This time, not in a Test match, but a T20 World Cup game against Ireland. Their first of the tournament in another new land for the sport - the United States. And yet, it all felt the same. Arshdeep Singh was making the ball swing both ways from the very first over at the Nassau County Cricket Stadium. Granted it was an early morning start in the US, catering to the sub-continental television audience, and there was moisture in the air. But there was more. In the next over, Siraj did one better. Or rather he didn't have to. The pitch did. On the fourth delivery, Mohammed Siraj pitched one on the goodish length and the ball leapt over Andy Balbirne, leaving Rishabh Pant to grab it with one hand. Testing the batter apart, it also left a seed of doubt on every batter who walked in. They were not going to get on the front foot unless it was overpitched. The result? Paul Stirling, caught in the crease, tried to heave Arshdeep only to find the leading edge and was caught. Four balls later, Balbirne was stuck trying to guide an outswinger only to lose his off-stump to the left-arm seamer.

Over the next few overs, Lorcan Tucker and Harry Tector tried to read the bounce and movement of the pitch, leaving them prone to all kinds of trouble. That the deliveries pitched on the same length were bouncing over head and keeping at knee-length did not help too. Jasprit Bumrah would come in and deliver a maiden. Hardik Pandya tried to attack the stumps and reaped the rewards. A sharp inward movement between the bat and pad of Tucker to clean him up. With Bumrah's back of length delivery lifitng to hit Tector in the helmet after taking an edge, Ireland had all lost the core of the batting unit, stuttering at 36/4. From thereon, Ireland were all out for 96 in 16 overs. The trend continued during India's batting as well with Rohit Sharma getting hit on his right arm off a delivery that rose sharply of good length. The skipper, meanwhile, hit a fifty to take India closer to the target before walking off the field retired hurt. Even Pant got hit a twice before India eventually got home.

In the lead up to the global event, all the talk had been about the lack of buzz and uncertainty about the conditions. The drop-in pitches for the US venues had been prepared in Adelaide before being grown in Florida and installed at the venues. No one knew what to expect from these pitches. However, when South Africa and Sri Lanka played out a low-scoring affair in New York's first World Cup match, it threw light on the lack of preparation of not just the surface, but also the outfield to an extent. The surface was fast and uneven while the outfield was remarkably slow. While there were no answers to the questions about the surface, India-Ireland was played on a different one - the same as the warm-up match Rohit Sharma & Co. played against Bangladesh. India scored 180 runs on the surface and was hoping that the game against Ireland would be similar. But that wasn't the case. That Rohit, who said India will need four spinners, went into the match with four seamers and two finger spinners summed up the nature of the surface. Which begs the question whether the ICC should have scheduled more matches on these pitches before the global event to ensure that the pitches are tried and tested.

It is only the eighth match of the T20 World Cup, second in New York, and one will have to wait and see how the remaining matches play out. However, early signs indicate that the global body might just have botched an excellent opportunity to introduce the sport to a new audience. Brief scores: Ireland 96 all out in 16 ovs (Gareth 26; Hardik 3/27) lost to India 97/2 in 12.2 ovs (Rohit Sharma 52 retired hurt, Rishabh Pant 36 n.o; Ben White 1/6).

THE TALKING POINTS

WHILE PAKISTAN BEGIN THEIR CAMPAIGN AGAINST UNITED STATES, NAMIBIA AND SCOTLAND HAVE A GO AT EACH OTHER. A LOOK...

CAN USA LIVE THE DREAM?

They kicked off with a brilliant win against neighbours Canada. The real test begins here. Up against a sub-continental giant, will Aaron Jones be able to lead his team to a massive upset?

EYES ON RIZ-BAR

As much as Babar Azam and Mohammad Rizwan played their part in Pakistan's last two T20 WC campaigns, the road to this one hasn't been smooth. It seemed like the team had moved on but again, Pakistan did Pakistan things to bring them back. Their smallest mistake could come under scrutiny.

IMAD TO MISS DUE TO SIDE STRAIN

Pakistan will miss the services of Imad Wasim due to a persistent side strain. Skipper Babar Azam confirmed as much. Wasim was brought out of retirement two months back with the World Cup view.

CHANCE FOR NAMIBIA, SCOTLAND TO STAKE CLAIM

While Namibia stole a win, Scotland could have done the same in their rain-matted game against England. Against each other, both of them know they can put some pressure over England, especially if the latter lose to Australia in their next game.

Chettri set for international retirement

AGENCIES @ Kolkata

INDIAN football team talisman Sunil Chhetri on Wednesday played down the hype around his last international match and sought to bring the focus back to the team's crucial FIFA World Cup Qualifier against Kuwait here.

A win on Thursday will almost guarantee the Indian team a maiden appearance in the third round of the FIFA World Cup, the finals of which are scheduled to be held in USA, Canada and Mexico in 2026. Chhetri last month announced that the second leg match against Kuwait would be his last in international football. "I think most of us have met already 20 days back and we have spoken about my last game. That's done," Chhetri said. "We are here only and only to speak about Kuwait and India and I'm trying really hard to not think about this game like this." An emotional Chhetri requested the scribes not to keep asking him about his retirement "again and again" so that they can play with a free mind.

Focus on strong start & endurance: Panghal

ANMOL GURUNG @ Chennai

BOXER Amit Panghal was at the peak of his prowess heading into the Tokyo Olympics. With experience, he had displayed his problem-solving abilities inside the ring to outwit some of the best in the business in his weight division (51kg). The fact that he was the No 1 seed going into that event was a clear indicator. However, what unfolded was nothing short of a disaster as he was shown the dreaded exit door in his very first bout (second round).

In the aftermath, he was facing an existential crisis. After occupying the coveted World No 1 spot, he was very quickly reduced to India No 2. That narrative persisted for most of this ongoing Olympic cycle and it was only natural that his confidence was taking a hit.

"What can I say... I was not getting a chance. I could only mull over it, 'what am I lacking, what can I do to represent my country and return with a medal.' I just used to get lost in thoughts, what else could I have done then?," he said, while reflecting on the testing times post Tokyo Games.

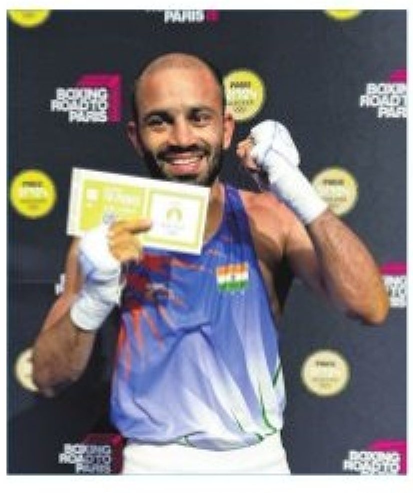
The Indian think-tank had moved on while the Haryana pugilist was left aside to lick his wounds. There was a clash of ideas as Amit wanted to mend his tried and tested methods that had fetched him medals at all levels, including a silver medal at the World Championships while the coaches at the national camp wanted something else. "Sometimes, I used to get upset as well. It was demotivating," he said.

Despite the negativity surrounding him, he continued to train. But three years after the Tokyo misfortune, Amit is set for another shot at the Olympics after having qualified for Paris Games in the 2nd World Qualification Tournament in Bangkok just a few days back. It's clear that the setback is still fresh in his mind.

"This up and down tends to happen in sports. My target was to qualify for the Olympics and win a medal. That target is nearer now. Now, I'll try my best to win a medal for our country," he noted.

As compared to Tokyo, there's a different kind of energy this time as he looks to the future. Older and more mature, the 28-year-old is aware he doesn't have much time to make wholesale tweaks in his game. He's focussing on other aspects of his game at the moment. "The first bout tends to be difficult for me. If I get through, my body tends to get tuned to the demands. I'm working on that. I just want to ensure that I can get through the initial hurdle in a strong manner," he said.

"I have improved my endurance and made many other changes as well," he added.



Amit Panghal is one of the two male pugilists from India who'll be taking part in the Paris Olympics | BFI

Personal coach for prep

During the rainy days, it was his family and personal coach, Anil Dhankar, who refused to lose faith in his ability to perform at the highest level. Amit is now hopeful of getting a chance to train under his coach until the start of the Olympics. "My family and my coach have always been there by my side. My coach was attending my training just before the qualifiers as well.

"I didn't get the permission to train with him then. Now, I'll seek permission from BFI and SAI to train under his watch until the Olympics. If they allow it, it will be a massive boost for me and I guess my game will also witness big improvements."

Amit is leaving nothing to chance and he's also had coaching lessons from legendary coach BI Fernandez. "He's very experienced and has trained Olympians in the past. He has plenty of knowledge about world boxing in general. So I continue to train with him whenever I get the chance. Even if I can add a small thing in my game, that'll be of massive help."

The Tokyo setback and the period of toil that followed is bound to make Amit more determined as he looks to re-write a better story this time.

Andreeva gets better of ailing Sabalenka

AGENCIES @ Paris

Jasmine Paolini beat Elena Rybakina 6-2, 4-6, 6-4 in the quarterfinals | AFP

MIRRA Andreeva became the youngest Grand Slam semi-finalist for 27 years with a shock win over Aryna Sabalenka on Wednesday at the French Open, after fourth seed Elena Rybakina was knocked out by Italy's Jasmine Paolini 6-2, 4-6, 6-4.

Andreeva, aged just 17 and 29 days, fought back from a set down against Australian Open champion Sabalenka, who appeared to be hampered by illness, to win 6-7 (5), 6-4, 6-4 and set up a last-four meeting with Italy's Jasmine Paolini.

The Russian is the youngest woman to reach the last four at a Slam event since Martina Hingis at the 1997 US Open, and the youngest at Roland Garros since Hingis, also that year.

"Me and my coach, we had a plan today but again I didn't remember anything. I just try to play as I feel," said Andreeva.

Sabalenka called for multiple medical time-outs as she complained of not feeling well and Andreeva, playing in her maiden Slam quarter-final, eventually took advantage with a composed display.

Meanwhile, the pair of Rohan Bopanna and Matt Ebden kept alive their hot streak as they advanced to the last four of the Open. The second seed, facing the Belgium duo of Sander Gille and Joran Vliegen, went the distance before securing the match over three sets. They next face Italy's 11th-seeded pair of Simone Bolelli and Andrea Vavassori. Results: Quarters: Jasmine Paolini bt Elena Rybakina 6-2, 4-6, 6-4; Tuesday night: C Alcaraz bt S Tsitsipas 6-3, 7-6 (3), 6-4; Mirra Andreeva bt Aryna Sabalenka 6-7 (5), 6-4, 6-4.

Chennaiyin bolster defence, sign Elsinho

CHENNAI: Chennaiyin FC on Wednesday signed versatile Brazilian defender Elson Jose Dias Junior, popularly known as Elsinho, on a two-year deal that will keep him with the club until 2026. Elsinho became the second signing of the 2024-25 season for Chennaiyin after they acquired the services of midfielder Jitendra Singh earlier this week.

Pragg loses to Carlsen; Vaishali beats Anna

STAVANGER: Praggnanandhaa R lost against Magnus Carlsen of Norway while his elder sister defeated overnight sole leader Anna Muzychuk of Ukraine in the eighth round of Norway chess tournament here. Wth the win, Carlsen stretched his lead to a full point over Hikaru Nakamura of United States, who lost to Firouzja Alireza of France. With just two rounds left, Carlsen is on top with 14.5 points while Nakamura is second with 13.5.

France's enemy is France itself: Evra

KALYANI MANGALE
@ Chennai

FORMER French captain Patrice Evra has declared France as the favourites to lift the upcoming Euros. "I think, France is a favorite because no other team has a better squad than France. With the starting 11 and the players on the bench, they really want to win that trophy," the 43-year-old told media in an interaction.

In the previous edition in 2021, the two-time champions they made it to the Round of 16, but eventually lost to Switzerland on penalties. But Evra still opted to keep faith in the Kylian Mbappé-led side. "I say France are favourites, but the biggest enemy of France is France. The problem is sometimes we are too good and we are sometimes arrogant and too confident. No other team in this tournament have a better squad than France, the starting 11 and the players on the bench. We have to be patient and not be frustrated and wait at the right time, you know, to hurt the opponent," Evra, who was recently announced as an expert panellist on Sony Sports Network's coverage for the event, said.

"Everyone would like to have that kind of problem. Any manager in the world," Evra said when asked about France's problem of plenty while choosing the playing XI. "Any manager in the world. So it's all this diversity and that's to make France one of the strongest national teams in the world. Sometimes we can be too arrogant. So we need to be careful. But France will be ready no matter what," the confident former captain said.

The 17th edition of the Euros will kick off on June 14 with the opening game between hosts Germany and Scotland in Munich. With Germany hosting the tournament, naturally, the expectations would be high for them. Germany, just like France, could not get past the Round of 16 in the previous edition. One of the most celebrated sides in the world, they failed to get out of their group in the last two World Cups and would be itching to perform well on their home turf. Evra believes Germany can return to their glory days. "I was disappointed with Germany in the last tournament. But if you remember, earlier, it wasn't even a question before the tournament started. You would always put Germany in the semi-final or final. It wasn't even a question because they have discipline. I think Germany lost that discipline, that fear and now it's coming back slowly with some players. I think we're going to be surprised about Germany and I agree they didn't have a good tournament (in the past), but now they're going back slowly. So Germany is still Germany, no matter what," he said.

Euro 2024 will start on Sony Sports Network from June 15

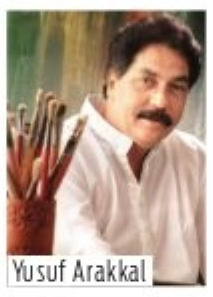
Brush strokes of solitude and hope

Bengaluru-based gallerist Sara Arakkal on the first exhibition of her husband and renowned artist late Yusuf Arakkal in IAF Hyderabad, which will also be his first solo in the city

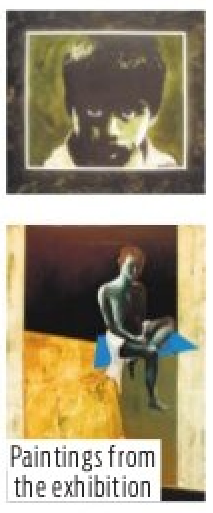
POOJA DAS

WHETHER through a delicate brush stroke or a bold splash of colour, art communicates the unspoken, giving form to feelings that words often fail to capture. It invites viewers to see the world through the artist's eyes, to experience their joys, sorrows, hopes, and dreams. For late artist Yusuf Arakkal, art was a medium to express the complexities of the human condition like a painting of a child staring at you, evoking a powerful portrayal of innocence and vulnerability.

As the Indian Art Fair debuts in Hyderabad on June 7 with a solo exhibition of Arakkal's masterpieces, art lovers will have a rare opportunity to step into the Bengaluru artist's world. "For me, Yusuf was not just my husband but my mentor. He took me to galleries and many other places in India and abroad, cultivating my appreciation for art. That is why I am really excited about his works being showcased in the debut edition of IAF Hyderabad, where he never held a solo show," says art curator and gallerist Sara Arakkal.



Yusuf Arakkal



Paintings from the exhibition

This collection, curated by Sara, features iconic works like those from the Ganga and Discarded series, offering a glimpse into the soul of an artist who found beauty in solitude and humanity. "We had many brainstorming sessions to choose the right works. We finalised a list of works that encapsulates his profound exploration of humanity, which remained the driving force behind his creativity," says Sara.

Yusuf Arakkal's oeuvre is predominantly known for its figurative style, a choice that set him apart when abstraction was the trend. "Yusuf loved humanity in all its splendour," explains Sara, adding, "While he maintained a wide social circle, and a celebrity status, deep within he was a solitary human being. He ran away from his native place, Chavakkad in Kerala, as an orphan at the tender age of 16 and reached Bengaluru. There was an element of solitude in him until his last breath, which was reflected in his paintings." This solitude, however, Sara says, was not about loneliness but a reflective, almost spiritual experience that brought light and hope into his creations.

Sara envisions the exhibition as a mirror reflecting Yusuf Arakkal's creative oeuvre, aiming to fortify his visibility in contemporary Indian art. "If he had designed the show, it would have been totally different," she admits. "Since Yusuf's works are being exhibited in Hyderabad for the first time in a solo show format, I think this will be a turning point, and his art will be discussed in a new light," she hopes.

This Pride Month, National Film Award-winning director Onir is bringing his latest film, Pine Cone which recently premiered at the prestigious BFI Flare London LGBTIQ+ Film Festival, to Bengaluru

'I AM BORED OF MY LIFE BEING ONLY ABOUT ACCEPTANCE'

POOJA DAS

The film will be screened on June 13, 6.30pm at the Bangalore International Centre, Domlur

A still from the film

LOVE. Desire. Romance. Heartache. These themes are widely explored in our everyday mainstream cinema whether it be a mushy love story or a hilarious rom-com. But when it comes to queer representation, most stories are so caught up in the idea of acceptance and the struggle that goes with it, showing the more simple joys and conflicts of everyday life escaping the visual narrative. Trying to give a chance to gay love on the big screen, national award-winning director Onir is bringing his latest film Pine Cone to the city on June 13. It is a semi-autobiographical film that celebrates queer love and desire, featuring one of the first queer actors in a leading role. "Most films about queer narratives focus on the heteronormative world accepting us," says Onir, adding, "Our lives extend far beyond that acceptance. I wanted to do a simple love story of a queer man spread over three decades."

The film traces pivotal moments in Indian queer history, starting with the first gay pride parade in Calcutta in 1999, through the landmark 2009 Delhi High Court judgement, and culminating in the post-Section 377 era in 2019. "It has reference to a few important historical moments of queer rights in India, but at the same time, the main story is that of love as an individual navigates through life and love in a society which is slowly changing, but is still a long way off," says the independent director.

Pine Cone is deeply personal for Onir, conceived during a time of professional frustration. "I made Pine Cone at a time when a film that I was trying to make called We Are got banned by the Ministry of Defence. I was frustrated because it was a film based on a real story. There are many films based on hate that easily get through certification, but mine was about love and it was banned," shares Onir, adding that he is happy that it led to this movie which recently premiered at the prestigious BFI Flare: London LGBTIQ+ Film Festival, the biggest LGBTIQ+ festival in Europe.

One of the unique aspects of Pine Cone is its technical execution – it was shot entirely on a phone. Discussing the acceptance of queer themes in Indian cinema, Onir reflects on his previous works, My Brother... Nikhil and I Am for which he was awarded the National Film Award in 2011. While both films were considered ahead of their time, he believes the audience needs to evolve. "There is a certain double standard in our society wherein people are also scared about accepting gay love thinking about what people will think of them. So the audiences need to understand that their sexuality should not be so fragile that watching a film threatens their identity," he says, further adding that there is a tendency to fit queer identities within heteronormative frameworks. "While such films are also important, I feel very often, films try to fit us into ideas of family and society's acceptance. It is okay if your identity is not celebrated by your family, then you make new families which are not biological – people who love you and respect your identity are what make home. As a filmmaker, I am bored of my life being only about acceptance."

Despite being one of the flag bearers of Hindi queer cinema in the industry, he says that support is still lacking. "In 2005, I made My Brother... Nikhil independently, because it was considered ahead of its time but in 2024, the story just repeats...whatever I do is considered ahead of time and I don't get the support that my industry should give me. That is the fact, that we are the world's largest filmmaking country and, if say, that 10 per cent of our population is queer, we don't even have 1 per cent representation in films," he says.

Onir, however, remains undeterred. He is committed to pushing boundaries and telling stories that matter. His future projects include an anthology My Melbourne directed by him with Kabir Khan, Rima Das, and Imtiaz Ali as well as We Are, which he hopes to complete this year.

> There is a certain double standard in our society wherein people are scared about accepting gay love thinking about what people will think of them... audiences need to understand that their sexuality should not be so fragile that watching a film threatens their identity – Onir, filmmaker

What are a few desi probiotics to keep the gut healthy?

The gut is known as the second brain of the body, and it is very important to have good gut health. Everything ebbs from the gut, be it your weight loss, health, digestion, skin, or hair. It is the gut that is very important. I can't emphasise enough to let you all know how important gut health is.

The desi way is to have buttermilk and fermented dosae, or idli. They're natural and something that people have been having for generations now. Leftover rice can be mashed with a little bit of water and soaked in buttermilk or curd. Leave it overnight, and the next morning you can add masala, a pinch of salt, green chillies, ginger, and coriander to it, which you can either have as a soup or drink like buttermilk, in whichever way you like it.

You can have this every day without fail, first thing in the morning. So these three are going to be your go-to desi probiotics, which will help your gut immensely.

FITBIT

ADHO MUKHA SVANASANA

DOWNWARD FACING DOG POSE BLOCKS)

This is a modification of the traditional Downward Facing Dog Pose, practised with the additional support of the yoga blocks to deepen the posture. Blocks under the palms help students get the pose right. It helps to create space in the upper body, especially in the shoulders and the neck. In addition to resting the palms on the floor, using the blocks also helps open the chest and encourages deeper and longer breaths. Introducing this variation to beginners will help them stay in the pose longer and improve alignment, flexibility, and stability.

STEPS

- Keep two blocks shoulder width apart in front of the mat.
- Stand straight in Tadasana. Inhale-exhale, bend forward, and rest your palms on the respective blocks.
- Firmly press your palms on the blocks, inhale, and walk back with your legs, one by one, while lengthening and engaging the muscles of your arms. Push the hips upward while doing this.
- Bring your feet together, engage the quadriceps, lift the knee caps, and push the calves downwards to help ground the heels.
- With another deep inhalation, lengthen the arms and legs. Exhale and tuck in the belly to push the hips upwards (sit bones moving up), and drop your head down while looking at the floor.
- Keep both legs straight at the knees. If required, have a gap between the legs to firmly press both feet down.
- Rotate the thighs inward while rotating the shoulders back to broaden the chest and shoulders.
- Stay in this forward bend inversion pose for about 6 breaths.
- To release, inhale, look up, and gently drop your knees down into Table Top Pose, and slowly slide back to relax in Balasana (Child Pose).

LIMITATIONS

- Ensure that the block is either of wood or the hard (not the foam) one ready for practise.
- Practitioners should take it slow while sliding the legs back.
- Students should avoid just focusing on the block and concentrate more on their shoulders and chest, keeping them broad; legs and knees, keeping them straight; and back, making it flat and long.
- People with with anxiety or trauma should avoid.

BENEFITS

- Good for students with tight hamstrings or sore backs and wrists.
- Improves the strength and flexibility of the legs and spine.
- Using the blocks under the palms helps take the pressure off the wrist joint.
- Students with carpal tunnel syndrome can practise this variation.
- This forward bend can minimise the strain caused.
- Aids with the lengthening of the spine.
- Creates space in the neck and shoulders, thereby broadening the chest and shoulders.
- Improves breathing.
- Encourages sthiram and sukham for the students at advanced level.
- Aids in restoring the natural curve of the spine and realigns the shoulders and the upper spine, relieving the lower back and neck pain caused by prolonged sitting at desks.
- Can be included in yoga for teens/kids.
- Helps prepare the body for advanced inversions and forward folds.

Recent incidents of turbulence highlight the hidden dangers of air travel, including the risk of serious spinal injuries

THE INVISIBLE JOLT

DR AMRITHLAL A MASCARENHAS

AIR turbulence, often dismissed as a minor annoyance, can cause serious injuries to the spine and head. A recent incident on a Singapore Airlines flight from London to Singapore highlights this risk. Severe turbulence affected the flight, with 211 passengers on board, about 40 of whom reportedly suffered injuries. Among the injured, 22 sustained spinal injuries, and six suffered brain and skull injuries. Notably, these passengers were not wearing seat belts, underscoring the importance of seat belt use throughout flights, even when the seat belt sign is off.

Modern aircraft are equipped with early warning systems to detect turbulence. However, clear air turbulence (CAT) remains near impossible to detect as it occurs without visible indicators and cannot be sensed by these systems. CAT is particularly dangerous because it can cause sudden altitude changes, forcefully throwing passengers around, and leading to spinal cord impacts. This unpredictability means that turbulence can occur without warning, leaving passengers without time to fasten their seat belts and protect themselves. Thus, staying alert and wearing seat belts throughout the flight is crucial.

Why the spinal cord is most at risk: The spinal cord, housed within the spinal column, can be severely damaged during turbulence. A spinal column fracture can cause bone fragments to press against the spinal cord, leading to weakness and loss of function in the limbs. If the fracture occurs in the cervical region (neck), both the upper and lower limbs can be affected. Such injuries can be catastrophic and irreversible, potentially leaving individuals wheelchair-bound or bedridden for life. The spinal cord's delicate nature means any damage can have lifelong consequences, even with timely surgery.

Wear Your Seat Belts All the Time: While air turbulence is generally unavoidable, its serious impact on the spine can be mitigated by consistently wearing seat belts. Seat belts are highly effective in reducing the impact and preventing severe spinal cord injuries. Passengers should always adhere to airline safety guidelines, keep their seat belts fastened, and take steps to protect their spine health from the potential dangers of sudden air turbulence.

A Concerning Trend

Last month, within a week of the Singapore Airlines flight incident a Qatar Airways flight from Doha to Dublin also experienced severe turbulence, leading to 12 passengers and crew members on board being injured. Experts suggest that climate change is contributing to an increase in turbulence, particularly clear-air turbulence (CAT). Studies indicate a 55 per cent rise in severe-or-greater CAT incidents over the North Atlantic since 1979, with projections suggesting further increases if CO2 levels continue to rise. This increase is linked to the intensification of jet streams and disrupted wind patterns at high altitudes.

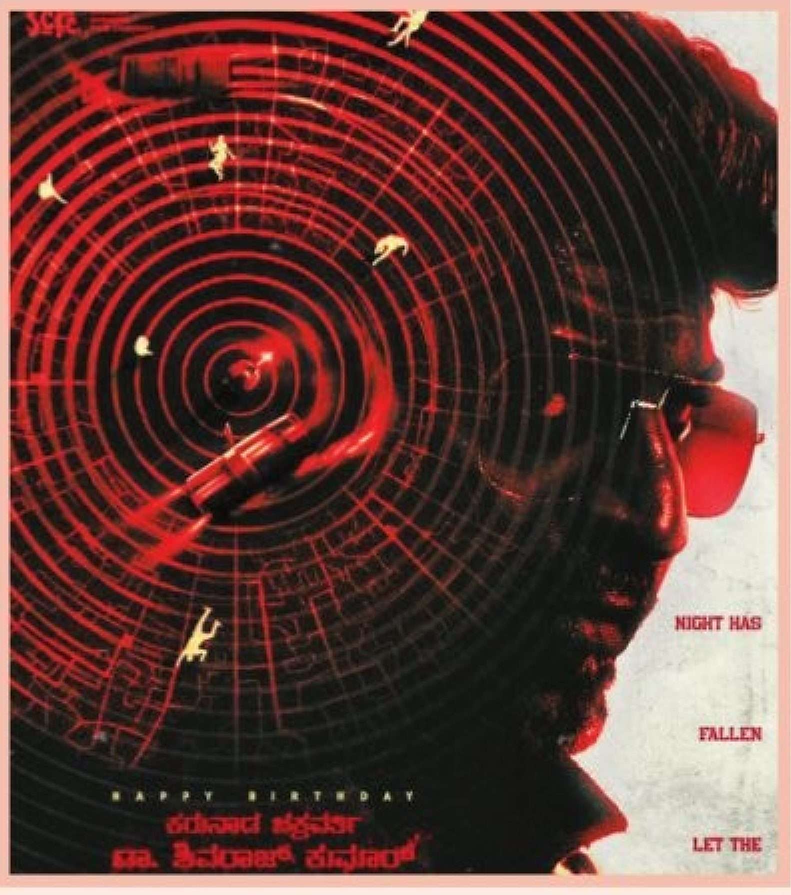
MAKERS OF SHIVARAJKUMAR'S NEXT IN TALKS WITH SJ SURYAH FOR A KEY ROLE

The yet-to-be-titled film which is currently in pre-production, plans to bring these two big actors together on the silver screen for the upcoming action thriller



A SHARADHAA

WE had previously reported that Shivarajkumar is collaborating with Tamil director Karthik Adwaith, who helmed Paayum Oli Nee Enakku (2023), for the latter's Kannada debut. The project, set to be made in multiple languages, is progressing briskly with pre-production underway for the action thriller. Shivanna, currently wrapping up Narthan's Bhairathi Ranagal and Arjun Janya's 45 by the end of this month, is expected to begin shooting for this project in July. The makers plan to release a glimpse around the actor's birthday on July 12.

Another interesting development is the potential casting of popular South Indian actor SJ Suryah in an important role. SJ Suryah, a noted director-turned equally in-demand actor, was last seen in films like Mark Anthony and Jigarthanda Double X while raising anticipation with his role in Indian 2 alongside Kamal Haasan. Talks are ongoing with the actor, and a confirmation regarding his role in Shivarajkumar's film is pending. If all goes well, it promises an interesting combination on the silver screen with Shivanna and Suryah in a face-off. Several directors have attempted to bring SJ Suryah to Kannada cinema, and it remains to be seen if Karthik Adwait can succeed.

The project will mark Sudheer Chandra Padiri's first production under the SCFC banner. Karthik Adwaith, who began his career as a part-time editor before becoming an associate with Kotagriri Venkateswara Rao, pursued a Master's at the New York Film Academy. His debut Tamil directorial, Paayum Oli Nee Yenakku, starred Vikram Prabhu and Dhananjay.

In a previous interview with CE, Adwait mentioned his admiration for Shivarajkumar's roles, especially in Simhada Marim, A.K. 47, Jogi, and Om. He plans to incorporate shades of such characters in his film and showcase Shivanna in a different avatar. While the cast and technicians are being finalised, Sam CS has been confirmed as the music director.

'I tried becoming a Kannada hudugi, and fell in love with the city'

states Stefy Patel, the actor from Jharkhand, who is marking her Kannada debut with Love Li, discusses at length her journey being an actor and her working experience

CE FEATURES

Hailing from Jharkhand, Stefy Patel always dreamed of becoming an actor. Reflecting on her journey, she expresses her excitement at how this dream has now finally become a reality. Having already made her mark in Telugu and Tamil cinema, she is eagerly awaiting her Kannada debut in Chethan Keshav's Love Li, where she shares the screen with actor Vasistha Simha.

"I wasn't even aware of the existence of the language or details about the South Indian film industry," Stefy Patel shares. "And I actually got a whiff of it, that's when I started watching South Indian films. While I was working in Telugu and Tamil films, I also learned about the Kannada industry, and then Love Li came along. Chetan Keshav's team reached out to me for an audition and provided the synopsis of the character, which instantly connected with me," she adds. Stefy portrays the role of Janani in the film which is slated for release on June 14. "Slowly, I began learning the language and the shooting process. In my journey, I grew fond of the food here as well," she says.

As an actor, Stefy notes that she has had her fair share of highs and lows. "Although I had a deep sense of yearning to act, I faced a hundred challenges. There are days where I have been in depression and would cry a lot. But at the same time, the moment I face the camera, and when they say 'action', I would tell myself, 'This is it.' For me, that is my happy space. I worship acting, and I consider it as an achievement to have come this far."

Regarding the toughest part of being an actor, Stefy shares, "People have several misconceptions of how an actor lives and are quick to judge their personal lives, but that has never been the case. Given an option in life, I love being just me. However, being an actor, I have to be presentable, learn the language, and follow a diet. There is a lot of sacrifice that has to be done to be in front of the camera in order to get the love of the people. I initially thought it was going to be easy, but every time I finish a film, I start from scratch, shedding off all that I learned from my previous film. But it is all worth it once you watch the film."

Entering a new industry requires significant preparation. Explaining about the same, she says, "When I start in a new industry, I have a hundred questions in my mind. There are a lot of mixed talks about any industry. But I was prepared to learn about the Kannada industry, and the best way I felt was to be with people around. What began as just being an actor in the film, I eventually became their family and they treated me like one. I tried becoming a Kannada hudugi, and I equally fell in love with the city of Bengaluru and the state of Karnataka."

In the context of Love Li and portraying Janani, Stefy Patel sheds light on her role as the female lead. "Of the half a dozen of films that I have been part of, I am sure that this character in Love Li is one of the best I've come across. Janani's role is written so well. She is not just a part of songs and a few scenes. I go through three phases of life in the film: From being a college girl, having a love story, getting married and becoming a mother, and that required a lot of preparation. If the actors make a difference to the story in a good way, it is there in the film."

Stefy explains that she was initially hesitant to choose Love Li, which is based on a true incident. "But they were firm that I should be part of the project. I like to sit down with the director and discuss my character's vision, and since it was based on a true incident, I wanted to stay true to reality and had a lot of questions for the director. He patiently answered all my doubts."

Sharing her experience working with Vasishta Simha, Stefy says, "Having watched him in his previous films, I felt he is rugged on and off-screen as well. I felt hesitant to open up, thinking he would be a person who likes to keep to himself, but he ended up being so nice. He is an amazing actor, and it was challenging to match him. Thankfully, I had help from him as well. I was always with my diary and pen, translating the dialogues and getting the accent right. He would often become a teacher on the sets, and that helped to work on our on-screen chemistry," she signs off.

The actor recently released a single from the upcoming film Sahara, starring Sarika Rao, which is slated to release this week

Creating a sports drama is inherently demanding: Ganesh

CE FEATURES

Manjesh Bhagwath's upcoming film Sahara, featuring Sarika Rao and Ankush Rajath as the leads in this sports drama based on cricket, is set to hit the screens on June 7. Sudeep lent his voice to the film's trailer, and Ganesh recently unveiled the first single, Ondu Shaktiyu, ahead of its release.

Acknowledging the unique challenge of crafting a sports drama infused with emotion and blended with essential commercial elements, Ganesh remarked, "Making a film of this genre is inherently demanding." As a cricket enthusiast himself, Ganesh has actively participated in numerous celebrity cricket tournaments within the Kannada film industry.

"After witnessing the release of the song, it became evident to me that director Manjesh Bhagwath approached the project with passion. His love for the sport shines through," Ganesh notes, acknowledging the dedication of the filmmaker. He also praised Sarika Rao's performance in the titular role of Sahara. The film narrates the inspiring journey of Jayashree, a village girl who triumphs over numerous obstacles to pursue her dream of becoming a professional cricketer.

Sarika Rao dedicated months of rigorous training under the guidance of a professional cricket player to master the role of a leg spinner in the film, showcasing her commitment to authenticity and excellence in her portrayal. The film's cast includes actor Sudharani portraying the role of a cricket coach along with Manjunath Hegde, Kuri Sunil, and Manjula Reddy, among others in supporting roles. The music for the film is composed by Suraj Jois, while Antony Ruth Vincent has cranked the camera. Sahara is produced by Shivkumar Madayya and distributed by KRG Studios.

TOM HARPER TO DIRECT PEAKY BLINDERS FILM

NETFLIX confirmed that Cillian Murphy will return as Thomas Shelby in a standalone Peaky Blinders film and that Tom Harper will direct it from a screenplay by the original series' creator Steven Knight. Although the development of the film has been in the news, this is the first time a distributor has confirmed it with details about its director and writers.

Comprising six seasons, Peaky Blinders centres on the adventures of a gangster family in the late 1910s in England following World War I. It stars Murphy as the family's head honcho, who makes all the big calls.

The makers are yet to reveal further details about the cast and crew. Murphy was last seen in Small Things Like These, an Irish drama that premiered at the recent Berlin Film Festival.
